Coach Smashes Against Freight Cars On Siding

MARKED TREE, Ark., Aug. 19 (AP)—Four cars of a fast passenger train switched onto a siding today, bashing a daycoach sideways into a line of parked boxcars and killing five persons.

A physician, the first on the scene, said four persons were killed instantly. Another died a few hours later in a Memphis hospital. Two were in critical condition.

Most of the dead and injured were riding the daycoach, fourth from the end. The thunderous impact peeled its steel side back in jagged plates.

The train was the Kansas City-Florida Special of the Frisco Railroad. The pileup happened about half a mile outside this east Arkansas town (Pop. 3,000), some 40 miles northwest of Memphis, Tenn.

At least 21 passengers were hospitalized. A dozen were treated at an emergency hospital, set up in a Methodist church near the scene of the crash, for relatively minor injuries.

Conductor W. F. Wood of Springfield, Mo., who was near the front of the train, said "It felt like we hit a broken rail."

Before he could pull the emergency brake, he added, the train began to separate.

O. F. Neiswanger, who lives near the scene of the wreck, said he was in his back yard when he heard the steady thunder of the leaping railroad cars.

Cook Dead In Aisle
"I was there before the train stopped rolling," he said. "I ran into the Pullman (second from the end). There was no blood there and I ran on to the next car (the diner, third from the end) and found the cook dead in the aisle."

"I went on to the car that was so badly beat up (the daycoach). I carried one woman—she wasn't hurt—down the embankment. She kept hollering for her baby. Another man carried the baby. It was screaming, its scalp almost torn off."

"The woman said she could tell it was hers by the voice. We tried to keep her from looking."

"There was lots of moaning and groaning in that coach. Most of those who were really hurt died before we got them out. I counted four dead."

Sawyer Defends WOC Activities

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—A former Democratic Cabinet officer denounced today what he called a "ridiculous outcry" against business working in government for free while drawing regular salaries from private corporations.

Charles Sawyer described Secretary of Commerce Weeks' Business Advisory Council as a group of "wonderful people" performing "an unselfish and patriotic service."

Sawyer, who served as secretary of commerce under President Truman, thus lined himself alongside his Republican successor in a defense of government activities of the WOCs. The abbreviation stands for "without compensation" and refers to men who take unpaid federal advisory posts without giving up their private compensation.

Sawyer voiced his views in a telephone interview from his private law offices in Cincinnati in the midst of the controversy between Weeks and Chairman Celler (D-NY) of a House Judiciary subcommittee.

Celler recently recessed subcommittee hearings until fall with a threat to subpoena "a whole slew of BAC people" following the refusal of Weeks to surrender BAC files.

Agreement To Up Miners' Pay $2 Day Is Reported

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 19 (AP)—The Charleston Gazette tonight quoted "highly placed coal industry officials" as saying they "understood" John L. Lewis and operator spokesman Harry M. Moses have agreed on a $2 daily pay increase for coal miners.

The newspaper further quoted industry officials, not identified, as saying they understood the agreement between the United Mine Workers chief and Moses, who is head of the Bituminous Coal Operators Assn., would be announced in Washington tomorrow.

The agreement, as reported in the Gazette, calls for a 15-cent hourly increase effective Sept. 1 and an additional 10-cent boost effective next April 1. Other reported provisions include time-and-a-half for all work on Saturdays, double pay for Sundays, and a two-week vacation with $140 pay.

Americans Find Severe Drought In Soviet Areas

MOSCOW, Aug. 19 (AP)—A group of 12 American farm experts, returning today from a monthlong inspection of Soviet agriculture, reported severe drought in some areas and dustbolls in the making.

They also saw prospects for huge grain production, and at least one of them contended the U.S.S.R. has a chance to become a leading nation in the world wheat market.

Members of the delegation who noted billowing clouds of dust over vast regions of the Siberian "virgin lands" program agreed there was a great risk of dustbolls on the new frontiers because of lack of sufficient rainfall.

At the same time the delegation was amazed, said Charles J. Hearst of Cedar Falls, Iowa, at the vast cultivation projects which offer a prospect for hugely increased Soviet grain production.

Lauren K. Soth of Des Moines, Iowa, saw possibilities that the virgin lands might produce an annual average of 400 million bushels of wheat a year—equal to more than a third of the average United States total crop. He added that if and when the program is completed and 70 million acres of new land are in full production, "the Soviet Union may become one of the leading nations in the world wheat market."

But there are serious problems ahead, the Americans indicated. Communist Party boss Nikita Khrushchev's ambitious agricultural expansion program which has sent hundreds of thousands of young Russians out to the frontiers.

Hearst is an expert in the sort of grain and livestock culture Khrushchev is trying to expand. On the basis of what he had seen of the virgin lands program, Hearst commented:

Raid On Army Post Hoax, British War Office Says

LONDON, Aug. 19 (AP)—Britain's War Office confessed with a red face tonight that the "raid" by masked gunmen with Irish accents on army post in Wales four days ago was just a lot of blarney.

The whole affair—48 hours after a real raid on the army of a garrison near Reading, England—was "a practical joke" carried out by four unnamed Junior National Service officers, an official statement declared.

The War Office added that the hoaxers "express their deep regret to the public for the alarm caused and to the police for the trouble they have been given."

"To that apology, Lt. Gen. Lashmer Whistler, general officer commanding the western command, added the regrets of "the army to

Six Feet Of Water In Hancock; U. S. 40 Traffic Detoured

FREDERICK, Md., Aug. 19 (AP)—Maryland's hottest and driest summer which quickly became also the wettest, turned hot again today but it was a long way from drying out as the Potomac River continued to flood from Hancock to Washington.

Skies were sunny and temperatures climbed back into the high 80's and low 90's for the first time in nearly two weeks but the heavy rainfalls which accompanied storm Diane's passage continued to swell the already full Potomac and its tributaries.

U. S. 15, main north-south route, was covered by more than a foot of water in the town of Point of Rocks, about 12 miles south of Frederick, and traffic had to detour. Maryland 40 also was closed at Buckeystown where it meets U. S. 15.

The river at 7 p.m. (EDT) was 19 feet above normal at Point of Rocks and was expected to crest at 30 feet about 7 a.m.

Water In Harpers Ferry

At Harper's Ferry, W. Va., about 10 miles upstream where the Shenandoah empties into the Potomac, a crest five feet above flood stage was expected by 6 a.m.

The Shenandoah already was reported falling but the Potomac still climbed tonight about three inches an hour, considerably slower than the foot-an-hour rate of climb reported this morning.

Eighteen inches of water covered Shenandoah Ferry, main stem of Harper's Ferry at 3 p.m. this afternoon and it was still rising. The Potomac was less than eight feet below the flooring of two Baltimore and Ohio Railroad bridges.

Further up stream, the Potomac crested at Hancock about 6 p.m. at 32½ feet, two and a half above flood stage. The river was five and a half feet above flood when it crested at Cumberland and Wiley Ford, W. Va., about midnight last night.

U. S. 40 Still Closed

U. S. 40 was still closed at Hancock and a detour was up on U. S. 522 which intersects 40 at Hancock. Mayor Lemuel Kirk of Hancock reported six feet of water in the town, the business district and many homes flooded by the backwaters from Little Tonoloway Creek on the west. The mayor reported no one hurt and little evacuation. He said residents were simply waiting for the water to go down, then start cleaning up.

At Williamsport, midway between Hancock and Harper's Ferry, a crest of 30 feet three to four feet above flood stage, was expected sometime tonight.

The Williamsport to Clear Spring road was closed by flooding. Conchoe Creek which empties into the Potomac at Williamsport. From Williamsport down river through the Brunswick area of Frederick County and Seneca in Monticome County, extensive damage was reported to summer cabins fronting on the river.

Brunswick, itself, sitting on a hillside, expected little trouble from the river.

Soviet To Talk German Unity With Adenauer

MOSCOW, Aug. 19 (AP)—The Soviet government said today it "does not see any obstacle" to discussing German reunification and the return of war prisoners with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer during his visit to Moscow next month.

These discussions would be in addition to talks on the question of establishing diplomatic, trade and cultural relations between the Soviet Union and the West German republic. Adenauer had insisted all these questions are bound together.

A note delivered by the Soviet ambassador in Paris to the German ambassador in the French capital said the Soviet Union saw "no obstacle" to taking up the reunification and war prisoners issues. But the note's phrasing did not raise hopes much progress would be made.

Adenauer May Lose Prestige

In Bonn most West German political leaders expressed fears the most Adenauer can expect from his Moscow visit is establishment of diplomatic, trade and cultural relations and the prospect of losing prestige at home by failure to win ground on the other key points.

Press Chief Leonid Ilyichev recalled to newsmen that the West German note of Aug. 12 stated that Adenauer wanted to talk about "national unity of Germany and the question of setting free Germans still in Soviet territory."

Russia Opposes Western Tie

In its reference to the fact that the Soviet position on reunification is well known, there was an obvious inference that Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's Geneva statement—that West Germany's membership in the Atlantic alliance continued to block reunification—still stands.

The Soviet note's reference to "other international problems of interest to both parties" was understood to cover the Russian leaders' assent to examine the war prisoners issue.

Seven Men Die In Plane Crash

HAWTHORNE, Nev., Aug. 19 (AP)—At least seven men perished today in the fiery crash of an Air Force transport plane into a barren mountain 13 miles northeast of here.

Marine Lt. Col. George Stallings of Hawthorne Naval Ammunition Depot reported seven bodies were found when rescuers were able to enter the charred wreckage five hours after the crash.

He said search parties were combing the mountainous area on the chance that others may have parachuted.

Stead Air Force Base at Reno, the nearest Air Force installation, said the plane didn't come from there but refused to say whether it had a flight plan for the craft.

U. N. To Ask Return Of Shot-Down Fliers

MUNSAN, Korea, Saturday, Aug. 19 (AP)—Demands that the Communists turn over a U. S. Army captain and Air Force lieutenant they shot down in an unarmed training plane will be made by the U. N. Command at a full dress Military Armistice Commission meeting at 10 a.m. Sunday (8 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, Saturday).

This strongly indicated belief that the two men still were alive. But radio press monitoring facilities in Tokyo did not hear such a report on any of yesterday's Peiping casts.

Gallagher Plans Appeal

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP)—An Army court-martial today sentenced Sgt. James C. Gallagher to life imprisonment for killing two fellow American soldiers in a Chinese Communist prison camp in Korea.

The 23-year-old Brooklyn native, vowing his innocence, promptly said he would take the case to the Supreme Court if necessary.

A number of servicemen have been charged with prison camp crimes, but Gallagher was the first to be accused of taking the lives of comrades.

The eight-officer court deliberated almost five hours in convicting him of unpremeditated murder, equivalent to a second degree murder charge in a civilian court.

Ike Reportedly Bars Stops For Look At Retreat

FRASER, Colo., Aug. 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower was represented today to have ordered a halt to any stopping along the highway on the part of newsmen and the public generally for a look at his vacation retreat.

Reporters learned about the order today from a Colorado state trooper who was patrolling the road in a car.

"You'll have to keep moving," the trooper said. "Direct orders of the President. He doesn't want anybody along this road." The highway overlooks the Rocky Mountain ranch at which Eisenhower has been vacationing with his young grandson, David, since Tuesday.

"Educated" Fish Ready For Final Examinations

LANSING, Mich., Aug. 19 (AP)—Michigan's "educated" fish are entering the throes of final examinations.

The fish—70,000 brook and rainbow trout—were planted in trout lakes and streams last fall. Fingerlings then, they had just completed a course in how to live to a scaly old age.

Their instructors, the state conservationists hired by the state conservation department, have high hopes for them. If they do well in their tests, it means a better life for future generations of fish and men.

Army To Begin Taking Youths Into Reserves

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—The Army announced today that enlistments will be accepted immediately for the new 6-year reserve training program.

The announcement also said the Army will be ready to take volunteers for the six months training plus 7½ years in active reserves phase of the new program in the "immediate future." Officials have said this means about Oct. 1.

Six-year enlistments directly into the reserves are open to youths of 17 and over who have not received a draft induction notice. Those accepted must serve two years on active duty, three years in the ready reserve and one year in the standby reserve. Enlistees will be permitted to serve their two years on active duty anytime they choose within the whole period.

17 To 18½ Years Of Age

The new 6-months training program, for which the Army is preparing now, will be open to volunteers 17 to 18½ years of age. These short term trainees will be paid $50 a month for the six months, and then must spend 7½ years in the ready reserve, which requires regular training.

Volunteers for this program will be deferred from the draft through the eight years so long as they take an active and satisfactory part in the reserve training. Otherwise they will be subject to a 2-year draft.

Army To Take 90,000

High school students who volunteer may be deferred from the initial active duty training period until they complete their high school courses or until they reach age 20, whichever is earlier.

The Army plans to take 90,000 youths for this short term training during the 10 months ending next June 30 under a quota authorized by President Eisenhower last Saturday. The Marine Corps expects to take 5,500 during the same period.

The Navy and Air Force are not offering this type of training.

Vaccine Report Due Next Week

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—The Welfare Department said today it hopes to release next week a report from the Public Health Service on its inquiry into Salk polio vaccine made by Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, Calif.

The Public Health Service launched an investigation April 27 after six cases of polio had developed in persons inoculated with vaccine made by Cutter. Use of the company's vaccine has been suspended since that date.

This is the third successive week in which similar expressions of "hope" that the report would be made public.

"When released the report will speak for itself. Until it is released, the department, of course, can't comment on its content."

"It is hoped that the report will be made public some time next week."

Many Missing With Damage Set In Billions

Record Deluge Hits Nine States With 26 Losing Lives In Pa.

(By The Associated Press)
The worst flood in the history of the eastern United States continued its rampage through nine states last night with a death toll of at least 56 and property damage which could run into billions of dollars.

As the agonizing job of salvaging the remnants started in some areas, torrential rains continued to pound the New England area and the crisis there worsened through the night.

Governors of Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Connecticut proclaimed a state of emergency.

The latest reports put the biggest single number of dead in Waterbury, Conn., the brass manufacturing center. Mayor Richard Lee of New Haven quoted Waterbury Mayor Raymond Snyder as saying at least 15 persons lost their lives.

In Stroudsburg, Pa., a once-robust resort center in the Pocono Mountains, there were nine known dead and possibly 20 others missing. The community's principal roads and bridges were washed away or under three to four feet of water. The water supply for drinking purposes was cut off. The principal hospital in the area was isolated.

Aftermath Of "Diane"

The storm developed Thursday after Hurricane Diane spent her fury in the Carolinas. In some areas the rainfall was the heaviest ever recorded—in one instance 11 inches in 36 hours.

The storm whipped across Virginia, causing one person to drown, and then swept through Washington and the states of Maryland, Pennsylvania, New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island and New Jersey.

State by state, this was the situation last night: PENNSYLVANIA—Twenty one persons had drowned, three died in traffic accidents and two were electrocuted in the storm. Highway damage alone was estimated at 10 million dollars. Four communities were without drinking water. The Delaware River was expected to flood Easton and possibly some parts of Philadelphia early Saturday.

CONNECTICUT—States of emergency were declared in Waterbury (Pop. 104,000) Torrington (28,000), Seymour (8,000) and Ansonia (18,000). The borough of Naugatuck (18,000) was put under martial law. In this community the number of missing persons was put as high as 50.

R. I. Dam Collapses

RHODE ISLAND—A dam burst under pressure releasing tons of flood waters into a thickly settled section of Woonsocket. All residents were evacuated before the barrier gave way. No towns were reported isolated as yet.

MASSACHUSETTS—At least 10 dead, roads blocked, bridges washed out.

NEW YORK—Port Jervis, a rail center in south central part of state hit by flooding Delaware River, Police Chief Edward Cullinan said damage would hit a million dollars. Rescue operations being carried out by Air Force helicopters. One person drowned.

NEW JERSEY—Worst flood in 50 years killed one in engulfing northern New Jersey. Hundreds evacuated.

Pilots and observers flying over the affected areas reported awesome scenes of destruction and heroic rescue operations.

FRASER, Colo., Aug. 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower today chose Philip Ray Rodgers, now a member of the National Labor Relations Board, to be the new chairman of the unit.

Eisenhower chose Rodgers, 39, in officially announcing the resignation of NLRB Chairman Guy Farmer. His retirement was predicted three months ago.

Farmer is a Democrat, Rodgers a Republican.

What Eisenhower actually did today was name Rodgers acting chairman of the NLRB until Farmer's term expires Aug. 27.

Returned Airman Files Divorce Suit

RED BLUFF, Calif., Aug. 19 (AP)—Airman Daniel C. Schmidt, 22, filed today for divorce from Una Schmidt Fine, 20.

The charges included that she was an unfit mother, and he asked custody of their 2½-year-old son. When Schmidt returned last week after 32 months in a Chinese Communist prison, he found that his wife had married another man. She said that, in the belief Schmidt was dead, she had married Alfred Fine, 21, a tractor operator.

Ex-POW Gets Life Sentence

Gallagher Plans Appeal

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP)—An Army court-martial today sentenced Sgt. James C. Gallagher to life imprisonment for killing two fellow American soldiers in a Chinese Communist prison camp in Korea.

The 23-year-old Brooklyn native, vowing his innocence, promptly said he would take the case to the Supreme Court if necessary.

Ike Reportedly Bars Stops For Look At Retreat

A number of servicemen have been charged with prison camp crimes, but Gallagher was the first to be accused of taking the lives of comrades.

The eight-officer court deliberated almost five hours in convicting him of unpremeditated murder, equivalent to a second degree murder charge in a civilian court.

Maximum Sentence

Then it took only 20 minutes to decide on the sentence—the maximum.

Gallagher was convicted of throwing two sick buddies out of a prison camp hut, because he did not want to hear their moans, and leaving them to die in sub-zero temperatures outside.

They were Cpl. John William Jones of Detroit, and Cpl. Donald Thomas Baxter of Waukon, Iowa. The court also found Gallagher guilty of collaboration with the Chinese Reds, mistreating fellow prisoners, and informing on them "for the purpose of securing favorable treatment by his captors."

Col. Harmon Broyles, court president, announced Gallagher would be dishonorably discharged from the Army and that he would forfeit all pay and allowances. Gallagher's basic pay as a sergeant was $191.10 a month.

Pales At Verdict
The tall defendant paled at the verdict and the sentence.

Later, Gallagher appeared before television cameras in a courtroom corridor.

"I would like to state," said Gallagher, "The members of the court studied the evidence conscientiously and came up with what they believed to be a good verdict."

"I have no hard feelings toward any of the men who appeared in this case. Some came in and told the truth—some didn't. Those men know who they are."

U. N. Plans Atom Film

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Aug. 19 (AP)—The U. N. announced tonight that it would make a movie on "Atoms for Peace," subject of a 1953 Eisenhower U. N. speech and the current 72-nation Geneva conference.

U. N. To Ask Return Of Shot-Down Fliers

MUNSAN, Korea, Saturday, Aug. 19 (AP)—Demands that the Communists turn over a U.S. Army captain and Air Force lieutenant they shot down in an unarmed training plane will be made by the U.N. Command at a full dress Military Armistice Commission meeting at 10 a.m. Sunday (8 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, Saturday).

This strongly indicated belief that the two men still were alive although there has been no official announcement since the Wednesday incident.

An Air Force spokesman said he had heard a Peiping broadcast reporting the two men were alive. But radio press monitoring facilities in Tokyo did not hear such a report on any of yesterday's Peiping casts.

Army To Begin Taking Youths Into Reserves

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—The Army announced today that enlistments will be accepted immediately for the new 6-year reserve training program.

The announcement also said the Army will be ready to take volunteers for the six months training plus 7½ years in active reserves phase of the new program in the "immediate future." Officials have said this means about Oct. 1.

Six-year enlistments directly into the reserves are open to youths of 17 and over who have not received a draft induction notice. Those accepted must serve two years on active duty, three years in the ready reserve and one year in the standby reserve. Enlistees will be permitted to serve their two years on active duty anytime they choose within the whole period.

17 To 18½ Years Of Age

The new 6-months training program, for which the Army is preparing now, will be open to volunteers 17 to 18½ years of age. These short term trainees will be paid $50 a month for the six months, and then must spend 7½ years in the ready reserve, which requires regular training.

Volunteers for this program will be deferred from the draft throughout the eight years so long as they take an active and satisfactory part in the reserve training. Otherwise they will be subject to a 2-year draft.

Army To Take 90,000

High school students who volunteer may be deferred from the initial active duty training period until they complete their high school course or until they reach age 20, whichever is earlier.

The Army plans to take 90,000 youths for this short term training during the 10 months ending next June 30 under a quota authorized by President Eisenhower last Saturday. The Marine Corps expects to take 5,500 during the same period.

The Navy and Air Force are not offering this type of training.

Island Governor Named

FRASER, Colo., Aug. 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower today picked Walter A. Gordon, California Negro attorney, to be governor of the Virgin Islands.

Gordon succeeds Archie A. Alexander, also a Negro, whose resignation was accepted by the President earlier this week.

"Educated" Fish Ready For Final Examinations

LANSING, Mich., Aug. 19 (AP)—Michigan's "educated" fish are entering the throes of final examinations.

The fish—70,000 brook and rainbow trout—were planted in trout lakes and streams last fall. Fingerlings then, they had just completed a course in how to live to a scaly old age.

Their instructors, three psychologists hired by the state conservation department, have high hopes for them. If they do well in their tests, it means a better life for future generations of fish and men.

Toward the end of the summer, these learned trout will be large enough to have an interest in man-made flies. But if the experiment proves successful, they will scorn such dangerous bait in favor of natural food.

Does the idea of educating fish sound fantastic? Well, these fish have actually been "uneducated," which in a sense makes them more educated than ever.

As Dr. Justin Leonard of the conservation department explains, "Fish reared in hatcheries develop conditioned reflexes. When a hatchery worker dumps food into the water, the fish sees his shadow and swims for it. Whenever something hits the surface of the water, they jump at it."

Many Missing With Damage Set In Billions

Record Deluge Hits Nine States With 26 Losing Lives In Pa.

(By The Associated Press)

The worst flood in the history of the eastern United States continued its rampage through nine states last night with a death toll of at least 26 and property damage which could run into billions of dollars.

As the agonizing job of salvaging the remnants started in some areas, torrential rains continued to pound the New England area and the crisis there worsened through the night.

Governors of Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Connecticut proclaimed a state of emergency.

The latest reports put the biggest single number of dead in Waterbury, Conn., the brass manufacturing center. Mayor Richard Lee of New Haven quoted Waterbury Mayor Raymond Snyder as saying at least 15 persons lost their lives.

In Stroudsburg, Pa., a once-robust resort center in the Pocono Mountains, there were nine known dead and possibly 20 others missing. The community's principal roads and bridges were washed away or under three to four feet of water. The water supply for drinking purposes was cut off. The principal hospital in the area was isolated.

Aftermath Of "Diane"

The storm developed Thursday after Hurricane Diane spent her fury in the Carolinas. In some areas the rainfall was the heaviest ever recorded—in one instance 11 inches in 36 hours.

The storm whipped across Virginia, causing one person to drown, and then swept through Washington and the states of Maryland, Pennsylvania, New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island and New Jersey.

State by state, this was the situation last night:

PENNSYLVANIA—Twenty-one persons had drowned, three died in traffic accidents and two were electrocuted in the storm. Highway damage alone was estimated at 10 million dollars. Four communities were without drinking water. The Delaware River was expected to flood Easton and possibly some parts of Philadelphia early Saturday.

CONNECTICUT—States of emergency were declared in Waterbury (Pop. 104,000) Torrington (28,000), Seymour (8,000) and Ansonia (18,000). The borough of Naugatuck (18,000) was put under martial law. In this community the number of missing persons was put as high as 30.

R. I. Dam Collapses

RHODE ISLAND—A dam burst under pressure releasing tons of flood waters into a thickly settled section of Woonsocket. All residents were evacuated before the barrier gave way. No towns were reported isolated as yet.

MASSACHUSETTS—At least 10 dead, roads blocked, bridges washed out.

NEW YORK—Port Jervis, a rail center in south central part of state hit by flooding Delaware River, Police Chief Edward Cullinan said damage would hit a million dollars. Rescue operations being carried out by Air Force helicopters. One person drowned.

NEW JERSEY—Worst flood in 50 years killed one in engulfing northern New Jersey. Hundreds evacuated.

Pilots and observers flying over the affected areas reported awesome scenes of destruction and heroic rescue operations.

Vaccine Report Due Next Week

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—The Welfare Department said today it hopes to release next week a report from the Public Health Service on its inquiry into Salk polio vaccine made by Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, Calif.

The Public Health Service launched an investigation April 27 after six cases of polio had developed in persons inoculated with vaccine made by Cutter. Use of the company's vaccine has been suspended since that date.

This is the third successive week in which similar expressions of "hope" that the report would be made public.

"When released the report will speak for itself. Until it is released, the department, of course, can't comment on its content."

"It is hoped that the report will be made public some time next week."

Wilson Orders Posting Of New Military Code

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—Orders went out today to harden American fighting men for the ordeals of combat and captivity. Secretary of Defense Wilson directed the military services to make a start by posting the new code of military honor "prominently" in every unit, ship and post throughout the world.

In training men to cope with an enemy both as fighters and possible prisoners of war, Wilson said it is essential that they be taught the "basic truths and advantages of our democratic institutions and the fallacies of communism."

The new military code, holding to the loftiest ideals of courage but recognizing that every man has a breaking point in the tests and trials of war, was proclaimed by President Eisenhower Wednesday.

It was drafted by a group of experts who drew heavily on the lessons learned by military personnel captured by the Reds in the Korean War and forced to endure torture and brainwashing.

Wilson issued his orders in strongly worded memoranda to the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force; the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Asst. Secretary of Defense Carter L. Burgess. Burgess is the Pentagon's manpower chief and chairman of the commission which drew up the code.

Each branch of the service was directed to make its own detailed plans for educating its men. No time limit was fixed for the steeling process, but Wilson said that even before it starts each man should be "thoroughly grounded in the salient features" of the code.

He called for help from civilian fields—religion, medicine, labor and industry.

Sudanese Army Troops Mutiny

KHARTOUM, Sudan, Aug. 19 (AP)—Gov. General Sir Alexander Knox Helm proclaimed a state of emergency tonight in three southern Sudan provinces to cope with a mutiny of Sudanese army troops.

At least one officer was reported killed in the uprising on the far upper Nile.

Helm was notified of the trouble while vacationing in Scotland.

He ordered his Khartoum office to proclaim the emergency in the Equatorial, Upper Nile and Bahr El Ghazal provinces because "events... constitute an imminent threat to public safety and the well being of the community."

The Sudan people are preparing to decide whether they should merge with Egypt or become completely independent.

About 900 British troops and a Royal Air Force squadron are stationed in the Sudan. They are due to leave within the next three months. About 600 Egyptian troops are there.

The million-square-mile Sudan, governed for more than a half century by Britain with Egypt as a partner, now is in the process of getting rid of foreign rule. Some political turmoil has resulted.

distance of 20 miles, a total of 20 bridges, some pedestrian, others traffic, were washed away.

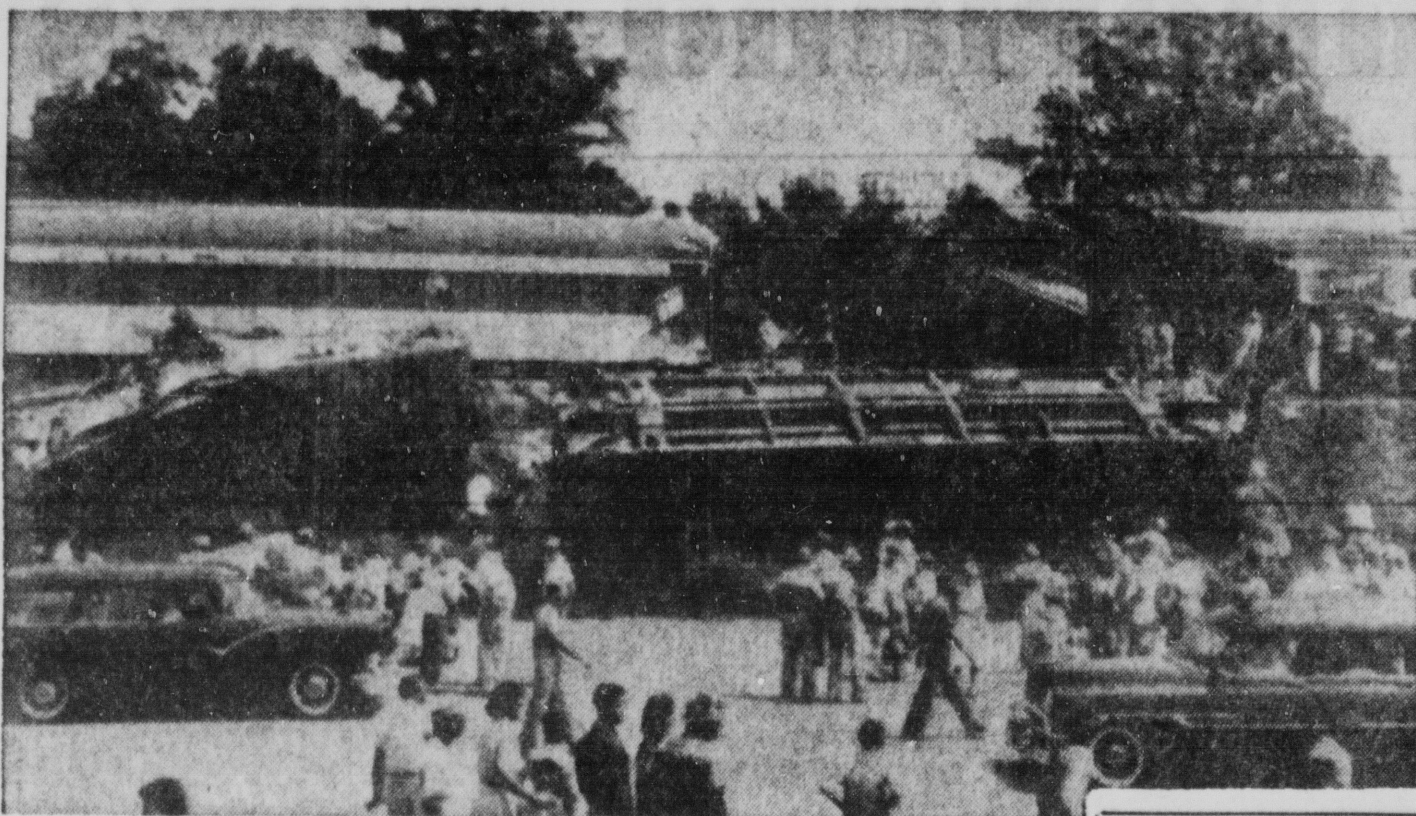

"I have never seen anything like it in my life," one pilot reported in talking about conditions in Winsted, Conn. "It looked like someone had taken automobiles and thrown them at one another."

The Hartford, Conn., Weather Bureau warned the Connecticut River would crest above flood stage sometime Saturday threatening heavily-settled Holyoke and Springfield in western Massachusetts and Hartford and Middletown, Conn.

New Haven Fire Chief Thomas Collins, said after touring the Naugatuck-Waterbury area that many persons were isolated on building tops.

"They couldn't get boats to them. The current was too swift."

Scranton was cut off from its drinking water supply. Mayor James Hanlon proclaimed a state of emergency after the three arterial water mains burst. All business, industry and public buildings were closed.

Story Of Burned Out Traffic Light Ends In Hanging

BALTIMORE, Aug. 19 (AP)—Louis Nezbed has added a pathetic paragraph to the story of a burned out traffic light.

The light is at the intersection of Milton Avenue and Orleans Street, which carries heavy U. S. 40 traffic across Baltimore's east side.

One red signal burned out around midnight on March 17, 1951.

At 1:30 a. m. a 10-ton tractor-trailer truck breezed into the intersection, night light against it. A car, with the green, shot in from the left. They hit. The big truck careened into the building on the corner where Louis Nezbed ran a little plumbing supply shop and lived upstairs with his wife, Otila.

The Nezbeds were thrown from their bed, Louis almost was killed. His wife was hurt. The place caught fire. The shop and the house were a wreck. Louis Nezbed's hair turned white overnight.

He spent all his savings on medical bills and repairing the building. There wasn't enough left to get the business going again.

The Nezbeds sued the trucker and a jury awarded them $21,000 in damages.

But the Maryland Court of Appeals at Annapolis said the jury was wrong. The accident was not the truck driver's fault, the judges said. The burned out light was to blame. That was the city's responsibility. But the city cannot be sued for damages when something goes wrong in the exercise of its police powers. There was no way the Nezbeds could recover.

Everyone was sorry for them and a public subscription campaign raised $5,000.

About the same time Baltimore hired Henry Barnes, the famed Denver traffic engineer, to straighten out its traffic woes. One of his first decrees: Always at least two lights shining in each direction at every signal-controlled intersection.

The Nezbeds bought another house and tried to make a new start. But Louis was 71. He still had aches and pains from his injuries. He brooded.

Late yesterday Mrs. Nezbed found him hanging by his neck from a rope in the garage.

Bryant Bowles Sues Grocer For $100,000

DOVER, Del., Aug. 19 (AP)—Bryant W. Bowles, president of the National Association for the Advancement of White People, today filed a $100,000 damage suit over some "Letters to the Editor."

The suit is against L. Lee Layton Jr., Dover wholesale grocer, and charges Layton sought to discredit and defame Bowles.

Letters written by Layton were published in the Delaware State News. The newspaper was not named as a defendant in the damage suit, however.

Bowles asked for $50,000 to compensate him for the alleged damage to his reputation and $50,000 punitive damages.

The suit was filed in Kent County Superior Court for Bowles by Bon L. Holford of Washington and Morris H. Hartnett of Dover.

Seaman Who Bit Cop Is Fined $100

BALTIMORE, Aug. 19 (AP)—A man who wouldn't pay for a hamburger and then put teeth into his argument when the cops arrived was fined $100 today.

Edward Weslowski, 25-year-old Baltimore seaman, was fined on a charge he sunk his bicuspid into the hand of Patrolman Edward Bromwell.

Bromwell said the biting occurred after police were called to a cafe where the manager complained the man and a companion were refusing to pay for hamburgers and coffee.

More Violence Hits Morocco

CASABLANCA, Aug. 19 (AP)—Violence and bloodshed marked the Moslem Sabbath today as French Morocco girded for crucial decisions on the second anniversary of the coup which ousted Nationalist Sultan Mohamed Ben Youssef.

The aging present Sultan Ben Moulay Arafat, sought with dimming chances to form a broad Cabinet to extend his shaky French-backed regime which was set up two years ago tomorrow.

In Paris, French Premier Edgar Faure spent most of the day closeted with top Cabinet officials and Gilbert Grandval, the resident general in the French protectorate.

The meetings produced the unexpected announcement that the French were planning to call divergent Moroccan leaders—including the hitherto deplorable Nationalist Istiqlal Nationalist group—to a quick meeting at Aix-Les-Bains in France.

The complicated political situation in Morocco was emphasized by rioting today at Kenifra, where 13 persons were killed and 30 reported injured.

McKeldin's Nephew Placed On Probation

BALTIMORE, Aug. 19 (AP)—George H. McKeldin Jr., 21-year-old nephew of Maryland's governor and son of a policeman, and Christian Ess, 22, received three-year suspended sentences and were placed on probation today for the attempted burglary of a filling station last June 11.

Judge Herman M. Moser in Criminal Court followed recommendations of a probation report in suspending the sentences and made conditions of the McKeldin youth's probation that he cease drinking and refrain from operating an automobile for at least one year.

Rapid Strides In Atom Power Seen By Briton

GENEVA, Aug. 19 (AP)—Sir John Cockcroft, Britain's atomic energy chief, said tonight that development will be so rapid that the atomic power station of 1970 will make the present plants as out of date as a Model T Ford.

In an evening lecture, the British scientist also told the atoms-for-peace conference he has faith that the energy of the H-bomb eventually will be harnessed for peaceful uses.

Cockcroft said he could not predict when the fusion process of the H-bomb could be controlled. He said, however, that Britain is "working seriously on the problem" and "my faith in the creative ability of the scientist is so great that I am sure that this will be achieved long before it is essential for man's needs."

Speaking of the immediate future of atomic power development, Cockcroft said the next 10 years will be devoted to laying a sound foundation for the production of nuclear power from which it can expand until it becomes "the major power source of the world."

Four Men Hold Up Baltimore Tavern

BALTIMORE, Aug. 19 (AP)—Four men, each wearing a baseball cap and sunglasses, held up a tavern in an industrial section today and fled with an estimated $2,700 to $2,900.

Witnesses said the gunmen carried .38 caliber revolvers, all were between 25 and 30 years old.

The men walked in quietly while the owner, William C. Fisher, was asleep upstairs and the bartender was in the washroom. Two men stood guard at each of the two doors, witnesses said.

Witnesses said the gunmen carried .38 caliber revolvers, all were between 25 and 30 years old.

The men walked in quietly while the owner, William C. Fisher, was asleep upstairs and the bartender was in the washroom. Two men stood guard at each of the two doors, witnesses said.

Tomorrow Is Big Day For Margaret

BALMORAL, Scotland, Aug. 19 (AP)—Princess Margaret frolicked with two pet dogs on the lawns of Balmoral Castle today while the world wondered whether her 25th birthday Sunday may bring news of her betrothal.

Outside the castle gates camped a crowd of newsmen and radio and television commentators waiting for Sunday—when Margaret will be of age to wed without consent of her sister, Queen Elizabeth II.

Mass circulation British newspapers have predicted that Margaret will marry Peter Townsend, 40, handsome Battle of Britain pilot and divorced father of two children.

But Queen Elizabeth—as titular head of the Church of England, which frowns on divorce—would find it difficult to give her approval to such a marriage. That's what makes Sunday so important.

They came from a Harford Rd. branch of the Family Finance Co.

Mrs. Anna May Shank, an employee, stalled the trio for a time by saying the girl with the cash drawer key was out to lunch. One of the bandits vaulted over the screaming commands to five loan office employees, escaped with $400 the drawer off with a pair of brass knuckles.

Allegany Historical Society Personals Sponsoring Tour Sept. 10

The Allegany County Historical Society is sponsoring a tour of historic homes and buildings in Cumberland and the outlying district on September 10.

Beginning at the Cumberland Free Public Library, the tour will be from 11 a. m. until 5 p. m. It includes also the home of Miss Ruth Clauson on Big Bottom Farm, Hazen Road; "Windale," the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Windish, Evitts Creek; the George Washington headquarters in Old Riverside Park; the tunnels of old Fort Cumberland; the home of Miss Elizabeth Lloyd Lowndes, Washington Street and Prospect Square; the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Piper, 104 Washington Street; the home of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Gunter, 201 Washington Street; the recently acquired headquarters of the Allegany County Historical Society; 218 Washington Street; "Rose Hill," home of Mr. and Mrs. James Alfred Avirett, Avirett Place; and concludes at the home of Mrs. Morris Rosenbaum, The Dingle, where refreshments will be served.

The library, of classic design, was built in 1849 as the Allegany County Academy and continued as a school until June 1929. In June 1934 the library was moved there from Greene Street. "Big Bottom Farm" was built in the early 1840's by John Smouse out of brick made on the premises. Miss Clauson has filled it with her collection of antiques. "Windale" also built by John Smouse in 1845 for his brother Peter Smouse, was originally known as the Mill Farm from the flour mill on the premises. Built in 1755, the George Washington headquarters is one of the most historic buildings in the United States. Built by General Edward Braddock for his aide, Washington, who used it in the French and Indian War, it was again used in 1794 when as President of the United States and Commander in Chief of the Armies, Washington reviewed his troops in Cumberland at the time of the Whiskey Rebellion. The old Fort Cumberland tunnels, on the present site of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, formerly led out of the fort towards Willis Creek.

In the former home of the late Governor Lloyd Lowndes, Miss Lowndes has among her collections the Delft plates given her father by Queen Wilhelmina of Holland. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Piper, formerly the Gillette residence is of Georgian architecture and was built in the 1840s by Judge Thomas Perry. It stands on the former site of the George Washington headquarters.

The Gunter residence, built by W. O. Sprigg in 1846, was used as quarters for northern officers during the War between the States. The Historical Society house, built in the 1860s by Josiah Gordon, con-

George Anderson, Hollywood, Calif., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Anderson, Narrows Park, who celebrated their 61st wedding anniversary August 16.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

This fall when the slim silhouette in fashions takes over, and a good figure is needed to show it off to perfection.

Most women exercise out of vanity. Health usually tags behind in second place. You want to look good, and the fact that you feel good is an extra dividend. Exercise makes you supple and keeps your body youthfully graceful long after you stop announcing your birthdays. It adjusts contours whittles down any problem spots, and keeps the muscles firm.

To get the greatest benefit from exercise, devote at least twenty to thirty minutes daily. The secret is never to miss a day. It takes a lot of will power not just wish power, and the result—your streamlined fall silhouette—is going to be worth it.

Midmorning or midafternoon is the most satisfactory time to do your daily dozens. An hour and a half after, or before a meal are best. Always exercise in a room where at least one window is open—fresh air is most important. Do you know exactly what your measurements should be? Unless you are sure of what you are doing, your efforts will probably be haphazard. You may even wind up trimming the wrong curve. It's been done . . . I'm sorry to say. To avoid catastrophe, write for "Do You Measure Up?" (send 10c in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me, c/o this newspaper), to determine your ideal measurements. This booklet will serve as a reliable basis for all future contour plans.

WINTER'S ON THE WAY—Summer's on the wane when these Parisian models sport the latest in chilly weather outfits. Black Persian lamb is the choice of two French designers for the winter season. Jean Patou offers the three-quarter-length jacket at left, with rectangular tailor-shaped collar at back and matching hat of Persian ribbons mounted spirally. The full-length Persian lamb coat at right is from the house of Lavin Castillo. The beige felt beret is by Legroux.

Allegany Historical Society Sponsoring Tour Sept. 10

The Allegany County Historical Society is sponsoring a tour of historic homes and buildings in Cumberland and the outlying district on September 10.

Beginning at the Cumberland Free Public Library, the tour will be from 11 a. m. until 5 p. m. It includes also the home of Miss Ruth Clauson on Big Bottom Farm, Hazen Road; "Windale," the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Windish, Evitts Creek; the George Washington headquarters in Old Riverside Park; the tunnels of old Fort Cumberland; the home of Miss Elizabeth Lloyd Lowndes, Washington Street and Prospect Square; the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Piper, 104 Washington Street; the home of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Gunter, 201 Washington Street; the recently acquired headquarters of the Allegany County Historical Society; 218 Washington Street; "Rose Hill," home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Rosenbaum, The Dingle, where refreshments will be served.

The library, of classic design, was built in 1849 as the Allegany County Academy and continued as a school until June 1929. In June 1934 the library was moved there from Greene Street. "Big Bottom Farm" was built in the early 1840's by John Smouse out of brick made on the premises. Miss Clauson has filled it with her collection of antiques. "Windale" also built by John Smouse in 1845 for his brother Peter Smouse, was originally known as the Mill Farm from the flour mill on the premises. Built in 1755, the George Washington headquarters is one of the most historic buildings in the United States. Built by General Edward Braddock for his aide, Washington, who used it in the French and Indian War, it was again used in 1794 when as President of the United States and Commander in Chief of the Armies, Washington reviewed his troops in Cumberland at the time of the Whiskey Rebellion. The old Fort Cumberland tunnels, on the present site of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, formerly led out of the fort towards Wills Creek.

In the former home of the late Governor Lloyd Lowndes, Miss Lowndes has among her collections the Delft plates given her father by Queen Wilhelmina of Holland. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Piper, formerly the Gillette residence is of Georgian architecture and was built in the 1840's by Judge Thomas Perry. It stands on the former site of the George Washington headquarters. The Gunter residence, built by W. O. Sprigg in 1846, was used as quarters for northern officers during the War between the States. The Historical Society house, built in the 1860's by Josiah Gordon, contains the collections of historical interest being assembled.

Rose Hill is the oldest brick home in Cumberland. Built in 1801 by Captain David Lynn of Revolutionary War fame, the colonial home overlooks the Potomac River. While not an old house, Mrs. Rosenbaum's home is one of the finest examples of English Manor style architecture in Western Maryland, and has outstanding stained glass windows in the library.

Final arrangements for the tour will be completed at a meeting of the committee Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Lowndes, chairman. Other members are Miss Clauson, Mr. Avirett, Mrs. Arthur Dixon, Mrs. A. N. Golladay, Mrs. Gunter, J. William Hunt, John J. McMullen, and Mrs. Rosenbaum.

George Anderson, Hollywood, Calif., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Anderson, Narrows Park, who celebrated their 61st wedding anniversary August 16.

Mrs. John Mordock, Winnetka, Ill., is spending the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Claiborne James, 400 Washington Street.

Mrs. Carl Lehr and daughter, Carl Ann, Putnam, Conn., are visiting her father, Francis D. Smith, who is a patient in Memorial Hospital.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

This fall when the slim silhouette in fashions takes over, and a good figure is needed to show it off to perfection.

Most women exercise out of vanity. Health usually tags behind in second place. You want to look good, and the fact that you feel good is an extra dividend. Exercise makes you supple and keeps your body youthfully graceful long after you stop announcing your birthdays. It adjusts contours whittles down any problem spots, and keeps the muscles firm.

To get the greatest benefit from exercise, devote at least twenty to thirty minutes daily. The secret is never to miss a day. It takes a lot of will power not just wish power, but the result—your streamlined fall silhouette—is going to be worth it.

Midmorning or midafternoon is the most satisfactory time to do your daily dozens. An hour and a half after, or before a meal are best. Always exercise in a room where at least one window is open—fresh air is most important. Do you know exactly what your measurements should be? Unless you are sure of what you are doing, your efforts will probably be haphazard. You may even wind up trimming the wrong curve. It's been done . . . I'm sorry to say. To avoid catastrophe, write for "Do You Measure Up." (send 10c in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me, c/o this newspaper), to determine your ideal measurements. This booklet will serve as a reliable basis for all future contour plans. Monday—Weakness of ankles can be corrected.

AS MODERN AS TOMORROW

Does going to church seem to you old-fashioned?

Well, it is, for worship is as old as creation, yet ever-new.

In church buildings before the fourteenth century there were no seats. Worshippers stood, or sat on cold damp floors. Later, three-legged stools were used.

Today, churches compare with our finest buildings in modern beauty, comfort, and convenience.

Our speech habits have changed with advancing generations. Scriptural style, too, has changed, yet neither meaning nor intent has been altered. The Bible's message remains the same—a gospel of good news filled with faith, hope, and love—for you, the same as for your forefathers.

Then be old-fashioned. Go to church. Find for yourself a faith that is steadfast—"the same yesterday, today, and forever,"—yet modern as tomorrow.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

AS MODERN AS TOMORROW

Does going to church seem to you old-fashioned?

Well, it is, for worship is as old as creation, yet ever-new.

In church buildings before the fourteenth century there were no seats. Worshippers stood, or sat on cold damp floors. Later, three-legged stools were used.

Today, churches compare with our finest buildings in modern beauty, comfort, and convenience.

Our speech habits have changed with advancing generations. Scriptural style, too, has changed, yet neither meaning nor intent has been altered. The Bible's message remains the same—a gospel of good news filled with faith, hope, and love—for you, the same as for your forefathers.

Then be old-fashioned. Go to church. Find for yourself a faith that is steadfast—"the same yesterday, today, and forever,"—yet modern as tomorrow.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Mineral County Farm Women Want Bloodmobile To Resume Regular Visits To Keyser

KEYSER—The Farm Women's Clubs in Mineral County through the Health and Nutrition Committee, representing the clubs, of which Mrs. Margaret H. Huffman is chairman, are making an appeal to arouse interest among the 150 members of the clubs ten county units and other women of the county, to act quickly and bring back the operation of the Blood Mobile Unit in Mineral County.

The petition was prepared and presented to the local representative of the Mineral County Red Cross, Miss Gay Mellon.

In the petition that is being sent to Farm Women of Mineral County, the matter was presented as follows:

"When we realized in the past week that the Blood Mobile Unit would not visit our county again because we failed to meet our quota, we were distressed and frightened to know that our local hospital would not have blood for immediate use for ourselves and our families. We know only too well that the time lost in finding and typing donors can mean the difference between life and death.

"In our own community we have seen in the past few months, two lives saved because blood was available for immediate use. One was a young mother with her first baby, the other a farm boy who had his arm torn off by farm machinery.

"We have always been proud of the way farm women have gotten behind worthwhile projects and so we are asking you to help bring back the Blood Mobile to Mineral County, not only this fall but each year. We have about 150 women in our ten clubs. If each one of us would be responsible for one person giving blood, it would go a long way to make our quota. The farm men in our families, working with their time saving, labor-saving machinery must be made to feel, too, their responsibility in this matter.

"At the Rural Health Conference at Jackson's Mill last year, the doctors there said: 'Take word back to your men folk that while their machinery may be saving time, it is not saving lives. We are having too many serious accidents.'

"If this be true, who, more than the farmers need to work to bring back the blood bank. Let's all of us get behind this.

"To borrow a much used highway slogan 'Give Blood—The Life You Save May Be Your Own.'

Signed: Margaret H. Huffman, Chairman.

Mineral County Farm Women Want Bloodmobile To Resume Regular Visits To Keyser

KEYSER—The Farm Women's Clubs in Mineral County through the Health and Nutrition Committee, representing the clubs, of which Mrs. Margaret H. Huffman is chairman, are making an appeal to arouse interest among the 150 members of the clubs ten county units and other women of the county, to act quickly and bring back the operation of the Blood Mobile Unit in Mineral County.

The petition was prepared and presented to the local representative of the Mineral County Red Cross, Miss Gay Mellon.

In the petition that is being sent to Farm Women of Mineral County, the matter was presented as follows:

"When we realized in the past week that the Blood Mobile Unit would not visit our county again because we failed to meet our quota, we were distressed and frightened to know that our local hospital would not have blood for immediate use for ourselves and our families. We know only too well that the time lost in finding and typing donors can mean the difference between life and death.

"In our own community we have seen in the past few months, two lives saved because blood was available for immediate use. One was a young mother with her first baby, the other a farm boy who had his arm torn off by farm machinery.

"We have always been proud of the way farm women have gotten behind worthwhile projects and so we are asking you to help bring back the Blood Mobile to Mineral County, not only this fall but each year. We have about 150 women in our ten clubs. If each one of us would be responsible for one person giving blood, it would go a long way to make our quota. The farm men in our families, working with their time saving, labor-saving machinery must be made to feel, too, their responsibility in this matter.

"At the Rural Health Conference at Jackson's Mill last year, the doctors there said: 'Take word back to your men folk that while their machinery may be saving time, it is not saving lives. We are having too many serious accidents.'

"If this be true, who, more than the farmers need to work to bring back the blood bank. Let's all of us get behind this. 'To borrow a much used highway slogan, 'Give Blood—The Life You Save May Be Your Own.'"

Signed: Margaret H. Huffman, Chairman.

William Lee Ridenoure and Margaret D. Ridenoure have sold property in Long's National Highway Second Addition at LaVale to John Clayton Ollwine and Jessie H. Ollwine.

Flood Waters

flood protection program, to raise the flood level.

When the entire flood project is completed, engineers say the flood stage for Cumberland will be calculated, and it will be much higher than the 17-foot level which is already inaccurate. The flood protection installations that have been completed are proven successful by this fact.

The river at Cumberland last night at 7 o'clock was 9.7 feet and had begun to fall more rapidly. During the day, the drop in the stream level seemed to slow somewhat. This is attributed to the fact that mountain streams and other feeders kept adding to the flow both above and below the city. Swollen streams, such as the South Branch, dumping huge volumes of water into the North Branch, serve not only to raise the level below the junction, but to slow the flow of the stream for great distances above the junction. Repeated many times by smaller feeders, the river level naturally remains at a steady point until the runoff diminishes over a wide area.

B&O Has Problems

T. J. Klauberg, superintendent of the Cumberland Division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, said here last night that the railroad was having considerable trouble with flood waters eastward.

Passenger trains and fast, perishable freight were being moved over the Western Maryland Railway lines between North Branch and Millers, also designated as Cherry Run near Martinsburg. Trains were running up to a couple of hours late.

The superintendent said water had begun to recede at Patterson Creek, Okonoko and Sir John's Run, but was rising at Hancock, Millers and Harpers Ferry. He described the South Branch and Shenandoah as "pretty wild."

Over 1,000 empty coal cars were backed up at the Keyser yards and the Cumberland yards were almost full with empty and loaded freight cars of every kind. No train crews were being called for freight, except that which had to be moved.

The B&O had washouts at several points and tracks were inundated at Red Rock Crossing west of Hancock, at Longs Crossing near Okonoko, at one mile west of Sir John's Run near Hancock, and at other points farther east of here.

There was no positive indication just when the tracks would be clear or when the railroad would put its trains back on its own right-of-way. Klauberg said many points will have to be checked for washouts.

The B&O branch line into Moorefield section was still blocked yesterday and the one train a day from Cumberland got only as far as Romney. This area is expected to be open sometime today, as water was receding quickly.

Western Md. Back To Normal

The Western Maryland Railway, which had two washouts between Cumberland and Elkins and had a foot of water in the Knobmount yards, reported last night that everything was back to normal. Washouts were repaired at Wolf Den and at Wilson, and the situation in the Upper Potomac, both for the railway company and numerous communities which had high water, appeared normal last night.

At Hancock, Mayor Lemuel Kirk told The News there had been several feet of water in the streets all day. Traffic was detoured off US Route 40, over a bridge and around Back Street. Mayor Kirk said there were no casualties, but some sections had more than six feet of water.

The town was flooded when the Potomac River backed up the channel of Little Conoway Creek, at the west end of Hancock and flooded the business section and part of the residential area.

Mayor Kirk said no shelters or relief stations had been set up and there was no cause for alarm. Damage would be considerable from mud and water, but thus far, he stated, no one has requested any unusual assistance. After the water recedes, he noted, it will then be possible to tell how great the flood loss may be. The Hancock flood started early yesterday morning, several hours after the river crested at Cumberland.

Three Hurt In Crash On Polish Mt.

Three persons, including an area resident and a couple from Toledo, Ohio, were hospitalized here Thursday afternoon with injuries sustained in a two-car crash which occurred on Route 40 east of Cumberland.

Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital were Donald V. May, 29, of Hinkle Road, who reportedly suffered a fractured right jaw and laceration on the right side of his head; Bobby Joe Boyles, 27, Toledo, who suffered injuries to his right knee, and his wife, Helen L. Boyles, 23, who had a severe laceration of her face.

Richard F. Miller, 37, of RD 2, city, driver of one of the cars escaped injury according to State Police. The mishap occurred about 2:15 p. m. a little over a mile east of Flintstone on the west slope of Polish Mountain.

Trooper J. F. Lewis, of the Maryland State Police at LaVale barracks, who investigated, said that Miller was driving east on Route 40 and apparently lost control of the car on a curve and careened across the highway hitting a guard rail and into the path of the car driven by Boyles.

Both cars were demolished according to Trooper Lewis who said Miller is being charged with a motor vehicle violation. Miller was driving a car owned by May.

Mrs. Boyles, according to police, hit the windshield of her husband's car following the impact. The victims were taken to the hospital in the ambulance of the Flintstone Volunteer Fire Company.

The edges of dandelion leaves are cut into large teeth, which are said to resemble those of a lion, hence its name.

Flood Waters

flood protection program, to raise the flood level.

When the entire flood project is completed, engineers say the flood stage for Cumberland will be calculated, and it will be much higher than the 17-foot level which is already inaccurate. The flood protection installations that have been completed are proven successful by this fact.

The river at Cumberland last night at 7 o'clock was 9.7 feet and had begun to fall more rapidly. During the day, the drop in the stream level seemed to slow somewhat. This is attributed to the fact that mountain streams and other feeders kept adding to the flow both above and below the city. Swollen streams, such as the South Branch, dumping huge volumes of water into the North Branch, serve not only to raise the level below the junction, but to slow the flow of the stream for great distances above the junction. Repeated many times by smaller feeders, the river level naturally remains at a steady point until the runoff diminishes over a wide area.

B&O Has Problems

T. J. Klauberg, superintendent of the Cumberland Division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, said here last night that the railroad was having considerable trouble with flood waters eastward.

Passenger trains and fast, perishable freight were being moved over the Western Maryland Railway lines between North Branch and Millars, also designated as Cherry Run near Martinsburg. Trains were running up to a couple of hours late.

The superintendent said water had begun to recede at Patterson Creek, Okonoko and Sir John's Run, but was rising at Hancock, Millars and Harpers Ferry. He described the South Branch and Shenandoah as "pretty wild."

Over 1,000 empty coal cars were backed up at the Keyser yards and the Cumberland yards were almost full with empty and loaded freight cars of every kind. No train crews were being called for freight, except that which had to be moved.

The B&O had washouts at several points and tracks were inundated at Red Rock Crossing west of Hancock, at Longs Crossing near Okonoko, at one mile west of Sir John's Run near Hancock, and at other points farther east of here.

There was no positive indication just when the tracks would be clear or when the railroad would put its trains back on its own right-of-way. Klauberg said many points will have to be checked for washouts.

The B&O branch line into Moorefield section was still blocked yesterday and the one train a day from Cumberland got only as far as Romney. This area is expected to be open sometime today, as water was receding quickly.

Western Md. Back To Normal
The Western Maryland Railway, which had two washouts between Cumberland and Elkins and had a foot of water in the Knobmount yards, reported last night that everything was back to normal. Washouts were repaired at Wolf Den and at Wilson, and the situation in the Upper Potomac, both for the railway company and numerous communities which had high water, appeared normal last night.

At Hancock, Mayor Lemuel Kirk told The News there had been several feet of water in the streets all day. Traffic was detoured off US Route 40, over a bridge and around Back Street. Mayor Kirk said there were no casualties, but some sections had more than six feet of water.

The town was flooded when the Potomac River backed up the channel of Little Conoway Creek, at the west end of Hancock and flooded the business section and part of the residential area.

Mayor Kirk said no shelters or relief stations had been set up and there was no cause for alarm. Damage will be considerable from mud and water, but thus far, he stated, no one has requested any unusual assistance. After the water recedes, he noted, it will then be possible to tell how great the flood loss may be. The Hancock flood started early yesterday morning, several hours after the river crested at Cumberland.

Three Hurt In Crash On Polish Mt.

Three persons, including an area resident and a couple from Toledo, Ohio, were hospitalized here Thursday afternoon with injuries sustained in a two-car crash which occurred on Route 40 east of Cumberland.

Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital were Donald V. May, 29, of Hinkle Road, who reportedly suffered a fractured right jaw and laceration on the right side of his head; Bobby Joe Boyles, 27, Toledo, who suffered injuries to his right knee, and his wife, Helen L. Boyles, 23, who had a severe laceration of her face.

Richard F. Miller, 37, of RD 2, city, driver of one of the cars, escaped injury according to State Police. The mishap occurred about 2:15 p. m. a little over a mile east of Flintstone on the west slope of Polish Mountain.

Trooper J. F. Lewis, of the Maryland State Police at LaVale barracks, who investigated, said that Miller was driving east on Route 40 and apparently lost control of the car on a curve and careened across the highway hitting a guard rail and into the path of the car driven by Boyles.

Both cars were demolished according to Trooper Lewis who said Miller is being charged with a motor vehicle violation. Miller was driving a car owned by May.

Mrs. Boyles, according to police, hit the windshield of her husband's car following the impact. The victims were taken to the hospital in the ambulance of the Flintstone Volunteer Fire Company.

The edges of dandelion leaves are cut into large teeth, which are said to resemble those of a lion, hence its name.

Visit To Moscow Has Its Pitfalls

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is prepared to go to Moscow on September 9 to discuss diplomatic, economic and cultural relations. But the West German government has taken the position, if reports are accurate, that not much can be expected to eventuate from these discussions unless the Kremlin is willing to talk about German reunification and the repatriation of German prisoners held by Russia.

It is also reported that Dr. Adenauer is determined to avoid having his visit to Russia regarded as recognition of Russia's puppet government in East Germany. He will not consent to anything that could be interpreted as endorsing the German frontiers that were tentatively laid down at the Berlin Big Four Conference in 1945.

Dr. Adenauer doesn't expect Russia to meet German wishes in that area, but he holds to the position that Germany's borders can be made final only in a peace treaty.

All this seems to indicate that the head of the Bonn government understands the pitfalls implicit in a visit to Moscow and is coolly resolved not to fall into any of them. It is not going to be an easy game for him to play. The Russians have excellent cards—those prisoners, for example. He will need all his skill and nerve to come back in a better position than when he set out.

These Days

Bought Elections

One of the bills not passed during the recent session of Congress is S. 636. It was not declared "must" legislation by President Eisenhower. Naturally, the President does not have to declare any legislation "must," nor should he. According to the Constitution, it is Congress that is the legislative branch of the government and all any president needs to do is to approve or veto bills passed by Congress. The "must" legislation habit is a corruption of the legislative process introduced by Franklin D. Roosevelt and continued by his successors. It gives to the President a leadership and a responsibility not intended by the founding fathers.

To return to S. 636, here is a bill introduced by Senators Hennings, Hayden, Green and Gore to make elections more honest than they are. The bill is called "Federal Elections Act of 1955," and it should be passed to safeguard the institution of government by choice from being corrupted by advertising agencies, press agents, professional party managers and such who benefit by the size of campaign expenditures. Advertising agencies, for instance, receive 15 per cent of the expenditures which pass through their hands. The more spent, the better these self-sacrificing idealists do for themselves.

In the first place, this bill abolishes one of the tricks for pyramiding campaign expenditures, namely, the organization of multiple committees some of which exist only to legalize the evasion of the spirit of the law. Under S. 636 "... No contribution shall be accepted, and no expenditure made, by or on behalf of a political committee for the purpose of supporting the candidacy of a candidate until the candidate (or a representative designated by him in writing) has authorized in writing the political committee to support his candidacy and has filed a copy of such authorization with the clerk of the House of Representatives. . . ." The multiple committees therefore will have to be authorized; they will have to register, and unless they take money under the table, they will have to report.

I regard this as a most important improvement because the multiple committees are a perfect device for hiding contributions. Under this bill, such committees may be organized and contributions may be made to them, but they will have to give some excuse for existence. The bill has about every provision one can think of to prevent secret contributions except the passing of money under the table, which nobody can prove and which, being illegal, becomes an income tax evasion and a dangerous adventure in which many, if not most, politicians engage. No law can be passed which legislates men's morals, and this is a moral question.

The limitations upon expenditures are as follows: "(1) the sum of $50,000 if a candidate for senator or representative-at-large, or the sum of $12,500 if a candidate for representative, delegate, or resident commissioner; or

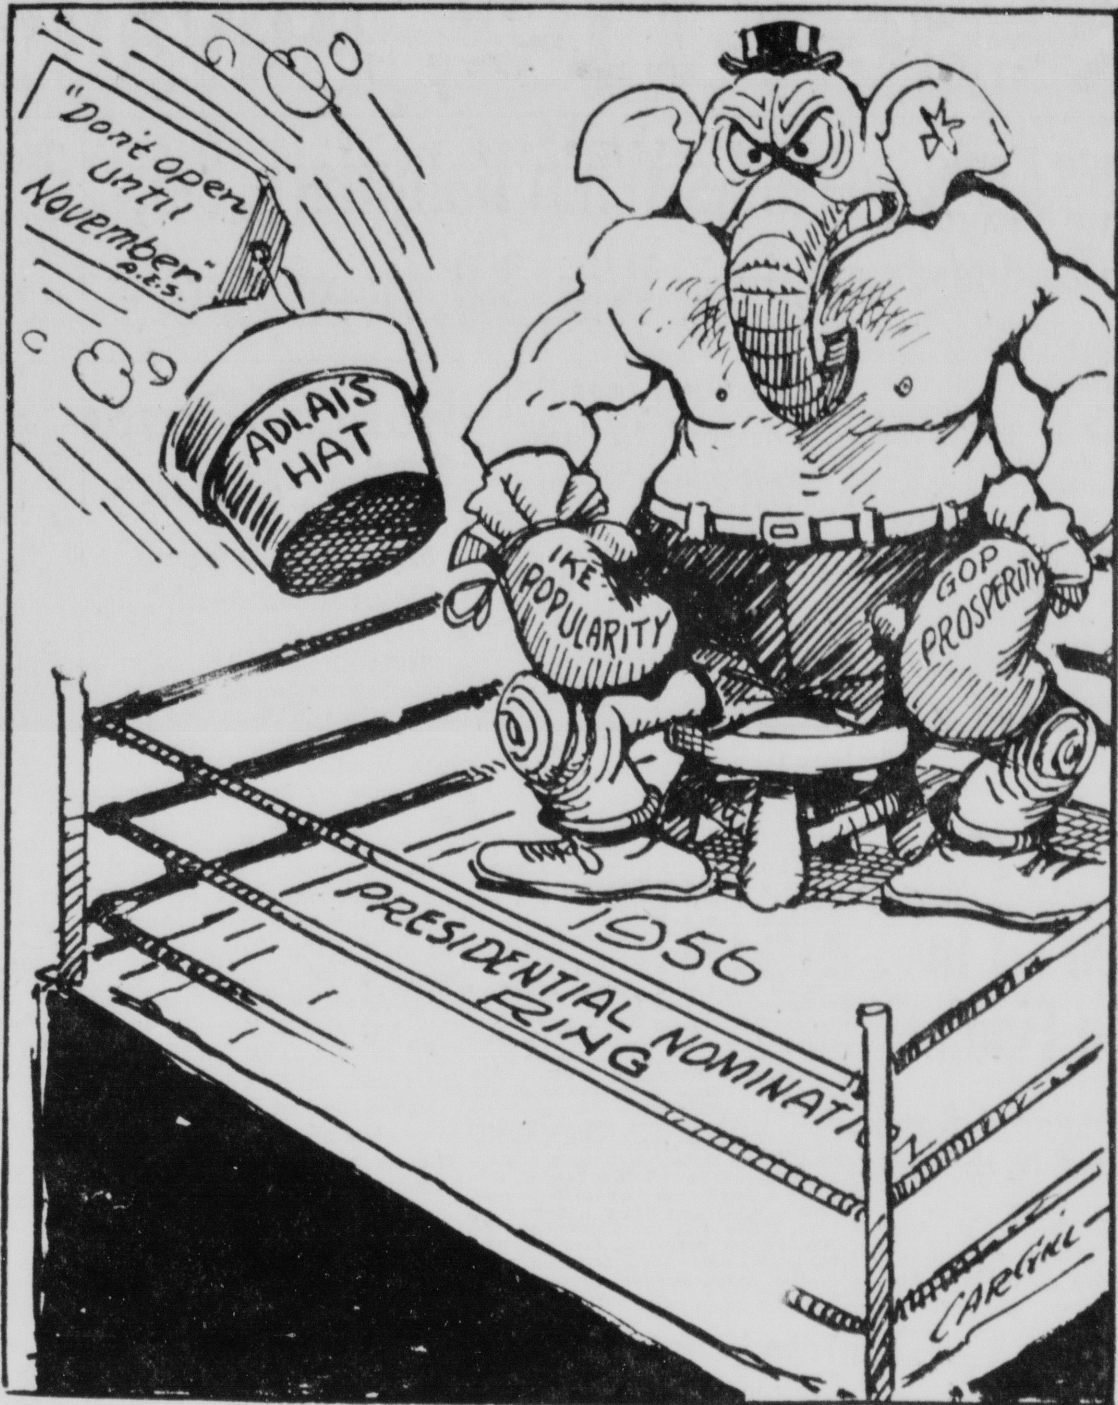

"(2) in the case of an election other than a caucus or nominating convention, an amount equal to the amount obtained by multiplying 10 cents by the total number of votes cast in either the last primary election or the last general election for all candidates for the office which the candidate seeks."

These provisions are a step forward in making elections honest, but the elections continue to be costly which is really the issue. If the 1956 election, pre-convention and post-convention, costs both parties $100,000,000, it is too much. Half of that amount is too much. It simply means that whoever is elected president is obligated to too many persons and some of them not particularly proper persons. It makes little difference whether a candidate gets excessive contributions from, let us say, the Rockefeller family or the United Automobile Workers; the candidate places himself under obligations which ought to be beyond his capacity to fulfill. President Eisenhower has spent two years discovering how costly such obligations can be and how embarrassing at times.

Adequate limitations upon election contributions will help, but what needs to be done also is to place an absolute roof on expenditures. Expenditures can be traced more easily than contributions, particularly if they are spent on radio and television or in newspapers, and the penalty ought to be automatic expulsion from office once the excessive expenditures are established. That is the way it is done in Great Britain where elections are clean and honest and representative.

Home Of The Brave

New Code Of Conduct Needed By Governments

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — It's strange to be reading a solemn pronouncement from a committee of eminent soldiers and civilians prescribing a code of conduct for Americans who may be captured hereafter as prisoners of war.

What war? Only a few days ago —after Geneva—the world was being told there isn't going to be any more war and that it is too horrible even to mention the subject in an age of nuclear weapons.

The document which tells future "prisoners" to be courageous also says that "the fight continues after the battle." This implies that the folks back home continue the battle, too.

Code For Governments Needed

It doesn't look that way now. Thousands of American boys—and some British, too, and the soldiers of other allies—were captured and many of them were tortured. But all during the time they were suffering, the "fight" in their behalf consisted to a large extent of exploring ways and means of appealing the Communists. Today, even as the prisoners come back and tell of the frightful torture they encountered, there are prominent men in governments allied with us who want to reward the Red China government with a seat in the United Nations. Red China was declared an aggressor by the United Nations and is responsible for the cruelties and atrocities inflicted on soldiers who fought in behalf of the United Nations.

What's needed is a new code of conduct for governments that send boys off to war and forget them within a few months after the battle is over. Dispatches from prominent writers and from many capitals of the world all indicate that the next move is to appease Red China and give her a seat in the Security Council of the United Nations. This is called "relaxing tension."

After the last world war, the war criminals of militaristic Japan and Nazi Germany were punished. After the Korean War, the war criminals have been permitted to go scot free and may yet be rewarded with a seat in the United Nations.

How can future soldiers be inspired to fight for ideals if the members of the United Nations in whose great cause 30,000 American boys were sacrificed are to disregard ideals?

Only A Part

But disconcerting expressions from governments and statesmen allied with us are only a part of the current wave of appeasement.

There is, for example, a deliberate attempt to pooh-pooh Communist infiltration in the United States. Scarcely a day passes that some blow isn't struck at those who are fighting Communist subversion. Thus, in the last few days a document has been published of a study financed by the Ford Foundation. It selects pieces of testimony and tries to make the security proceedings of the United States look capricious and ludicrous. Nowhere is the full transcript of any hearing given so that both sides of the cross-examination and the reasons for it can be understood.

When Senator McCarthy stood up in the Senate and gave selected items about individuals suspected of Communist associations, he was pilloried for giving only one side. But when the Ford Foundation study gives only piecemeal items without all the background, no criticism is voiced from "left wing" quarters. Recently there has been a hue and cry about anonymous informants, but the Ford Foundation study now being publicized is anonymous so far as giving the facts or the story of both sides or the sources of the study.

Atmosphere Not Good

Nor is any information being given to the public as to why some of the questions asked in hearings could be pertinent to a security investigation. If a boy's father, for instance, is in any way tied up with the Communists or if he has relatives behind the iron curtain, this in itself doesn't mean the officer is suspected of communistic beliefs. It means merely that he could be subject to blackmail pressures. This has happened again and again. In fact, this very month Americans working for Radio Free Europe are finding that their relatives behind the iron curtain are being tortured in an effort to bring pressure to stop the radio broadcasts. The same kind of blackmail occurs when a sex deviate is involved. So it isn't nonsensical for a security board to learn what it can about the morals of an individual who has had some associations with Communist causes. It is only common sense not to let anybody occupy a governmental position or be given a post in the armed services if he could later be the victim of attempted blackmail.

Representative Walter of Pennsylvania, Democrat, is having a hard time with witnesses who refuse to testify. They are trying to lampoon his committee. Many of them are pleading the Fifth Amendment and are refusing to help uncover the Communist conspiracy in the United States, while some sections of the press are upholding the obvious misuse of constitutional provisions. It isn't the kind of atmosphere which tends to assure future prisoners of war that they will not be forgotten.

Baering Down on The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

New Hampshire just defeated a three-house parley on legalized sweepstakes. The Senate, the House and the Governor's Mansion.

As a matter of impartial kibitzing the state-operated boss-parlor bill was in the books like a librarian's thumb.

The governor originally said he would sign the bill like it was an invitation to a dance. It had whipped through the House 193 to 80. The 11 guys who didn't vote were already at the track. Five were jockeys.

Then the civic organizations measured the governor for the exit. He changed his mind like Aunt Ella at the milliner's.

The House then whirled with the quickness of a rotisserie spit. It backed the governor up like cardboard on a picture.

We don't know what the State Senate was doing through this ruckus. Probably was scratched.

Idea of the state pony express was to raise money for school construction. We would like to gander the kids learning their three R's off the morning line. And their arithmetic off a tote board.

The governor said he switched because the sweepstakes might interfere with federal whimsies. He's as right as curls in the nursery.

Damon Runyon tried for 20 years to put over a federal lottery and sweepstakes. His idea was to keep the money in the country. We told him just because the money's in the country doesn't say you've got it.

So the school children of New Hampshire will not use commutation stubs for book-marks.

All the gamblers will get from the racing ABC's is the A for effort.

But we still claim betting on the races is a good way to get educated.

Trachoma Is Worldwide Infection Of The Eye

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

At one time trachoma (granular eyelids) was a serious health problem in the United States. In the central section of our country the condition was so rife it was considered epidemic.

Within the last decade it has been confined largely to American Indians, mountaineers of Tennessee, Missouri, and Kentucky, and in certain poor farm communities. The number of victims is much higher elsewhere. In some parts of Asia, from 30 to 60 per cent of the population are afflicted; and in Europe, 5 per cent.

Mass treatment with the sulfa products among the Indians of Arizona and New Mexico reduced its incidence from 20 per cent in 1938 to less than 0.2 of 1 per cent today. Furthermore, trachoma was a common cause of blindness and as late as 25 years ago, was responsible for one out of four pensioners on the Missouri state blind pension roll. Now it accounts for only one out of 20 of this group.

What is trachoma? It is a contagious infection of the external lining membrane of the eyeball and the inner lining of the eyelids. The disease is indistinguishable in the early stages from an ordinary eye infection as there is watering of the eyes along with burning, itching, and photophobia.

As it progresses, the conjunctiva becomes more swollen and reddened and the lids thicken due to scarring. The granular appearance stems from the pebble-like follicles dotting the surface. If the disease is allowed to advance, blindness is inevitable. Furthermore, the scars in and about the edge of the lids encourage ingrown lashes which augment irritation.

Trachoma is an example of an infection in which the cure is known but the cause has escaped detection. Many organisms have been implicated but our scientists are not sure whether the culprit is a virus or an inclusion body somewhat similar to the agent responsible for psittacosis (parrot fever).

The sulfonamides are more or less specific. Antibiotics like aureomycin and terramycin are next on the list, whereas penicillin and streptomycin have little or no effect. Improvements in diet and the economic status aid in eliminating the malady.

Trachoma is not hereditary but it is a family disease because the organisms are transferred easily from one member to another through the common use of towels and wash cloths. The more insubstantial and crowded the household, the more prevalent the infection. When correction along this line are made, trachoma tends to disappear.

office on January 20, 1953, Pasek sent this letter, February 9, 1953, to W. M. Wright of International Cellulotton Products Company, a Kimberly-Clark affiliate:

"Dear Bill—I happened to hear a statement the other day by Mr. McCabe, president of the Scott Paper Company, that they have planned their operations so as to reach a sales volume of three hundred million dollars before 1955. This, you will note, doubles their 1952 volume. I thought you might be interested."

Another affiliate of Kimberly-Clark is the Coosa River Newsprint Company of Alabama. On March 9, 1953, Pasek sent A. G. Wakeman, president of the company, an advance "confidential" copy of the statement which was made by H. B. McCoy, Pasek's boss and acting head of N.P.A., before the House Interstate Commerce Committee.

"These views and recommendations of the newsprint situation," Pasek wrote to Wakeman, "we have passed on to McCoy and it is our hope that he does not alter it too much before passing it on to Wolverton." (Congressman Wolverton (R., N.J.), then chairman of the House committee.)

"I thought you might like to see what two months of work in the government does to a fellow," added Pasek, referring to the fact that he had materially helped prepare McCoy's statement for Congress.

Called before the Celler committee to explain his unusual action, Pasek was asked by Committee Counsel Herbert Maletz:

"Do you think it is proper for a full-time government employee to make available to a person in private business confidential drafts of a statement proposed to be presented to a congressional committee?"

"I have made the statement three or four times (that he didn't think it improper) and I stand on the statement I made," replied Pasek.

"A statement like that might be of extreme value to a company," commented Chairman Celler. "It might affect the market quotation of stock. It might affect the supply and demand. It may have many far-reaching effects."

"My examination of that right now would not indicate that that might have any such bearing," replied Pasek, vaguely sparring for time.

"I am speaking in general," shot back Celler. "If you feel that you would not do anything untoward in passing on to your company or to private individuals a confidential proposed statement to be made before a congressional committee, then I don't think that you comprehend what is meant by a WOC employee of the government."

Pasek Writes Again

But Pasek's boss, H. B. McCoy, did not entirely follow Pasek's advice. He, McCoy, made some changes in his statement to the House Interstate Commerce Committee that Pasek didn't like. Whereupon, Pasek took the unusual step of again writing to Wakeman, president of Coosa River Newsprint, urging that Wakeman write McCoy a critical letter, sending a copy of same to Congressman Wolverton, the committee chairman.

"In other words," asked Congressman Celler, hardly believing his ears, "Mr. McCoy made a determination. You felt he was in error. Then you wanted to get your company and others to communicate with McCoy to say that he was wrong?"

"Apparently, I felt that we had not been convincing in the information we had given Mr. McCoy," blithely explained the man who was loaned to Uncle Sam at $15 a day.

"Mr. Pasek," Celler chided the witness, "we always have that difficulty with WOC's when you speak of loyalty. You naturally have a loyalty to the entity that gives you your salary. You have a loyalty to the government that employs you as a WOC, and making a determination as to which loyalty you shall follow sometimes may be difficult. "In this instance I think the loyalty to the Kimberly-Clark Corporation was a little bit stronger in your mind than the loyalty to the government."

"I don't consider that to be so," glibly replied the man from Kimberly-Clark.

Visit To Moscow Has Its Pitfalls

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is prepared to go to Moscow on September 9 to discuss diplomatic, economic and cultural relations. But the West German government has taken the position, if reports are accurate, that not much can be expected to eventuate from these discussions unless the Kremlin is willing to talk about German reunification and the repatriation of German prisoners held by Russia.

It is also reported that Dr. Adenauer is determined to avoid having his visit to Russia regarded as recognition of Russia's puppet government in East Germany. He will not consent to anything that could be interpreted as endorsing the German frontiers that were tentatively laid down at the Berlin Big Four Conference in 1945.

Dr. Adenauer doesn't expect Russia to meet German wishes in that area, but he holds to the position that Germany's borders can be made final only in a peace treaty.

All this seems to indicate that the head of the Bonn government understands the pitfalls implicit in a visit to Moscow and is coolly resolved not to fall into any of them. It is not going to be an easy game for him to play. The Russians have excellent cards—those prisoners, for example. He will need all his skill and nerve to come back in a better position than when he set out.

These Days

Bought Elections

One of the bills not passed during the recent session of Congress is S. 636. It was not declared "must" legislation by President Eisenhower. Naturally, the President does not have to declare any legislation "must," nor should he. According to the Constitution, it is Congress that is the legislative branch of the government and all any president needs to do is to approve or veto bills passed by Congress. The "must" legislation habit is a corruption of the legislative process introduced by Franklin D. Roosevelt and continued by his successors. It gives to the President a leadership and a responsibility not intended by the founding fathers.

To return to S. 636, here is a bill introduced by Senators Hennings, Hayden, Green and Gore to make elections more honest than they are. The bill is called "Federal Elections Act of 1955," and it should be passed to safeguard the institution of government by choice from being corrupted by advertising agencies, press agents, professional party managers and such who benefit by the size of campaign expenditures. Advertising agencies, for instance, receive 15 per cent of the expenditures which pass through their hands. The more spent, the better these self-sacrificing idealists do for themselves.

In the first place, this bill abolishes one of the tricks for pyramiding campaign expenditures, namely, the organization of multiple committees some of which exist only to legalize the evasion of the spirit of the law. Under S. 636 No contribution shall be accepted, and no expenditure made, by or on behalf of a political committee for the purpose of supporting the candidacy of a candidate until the candidate (or a representative designated by him in writing) has authorized in writing the political committee to support his candidacy and has filed a copy of such authorization with the clerk of the House of Representatives The multiple committees therefore will have to be authorized; they will have to register, and unless they take money under the table, they will have to report.

I regard this as a most important improvement because the multiple committees are a perfect device for hiding contributions. Under this bill, such committees may be organized and contributions may be made to them, but they will have to give some excuse for existence. The bill has about every provision one can think of to prevent secret contributions except the passing of money under the table, which nobody can prove and which, being illegal, becomes an income tax evasion and a dangerous adventure in which many, if not most, politicians engage. No law can be passed which legislates men's morals, and this is a moral question.

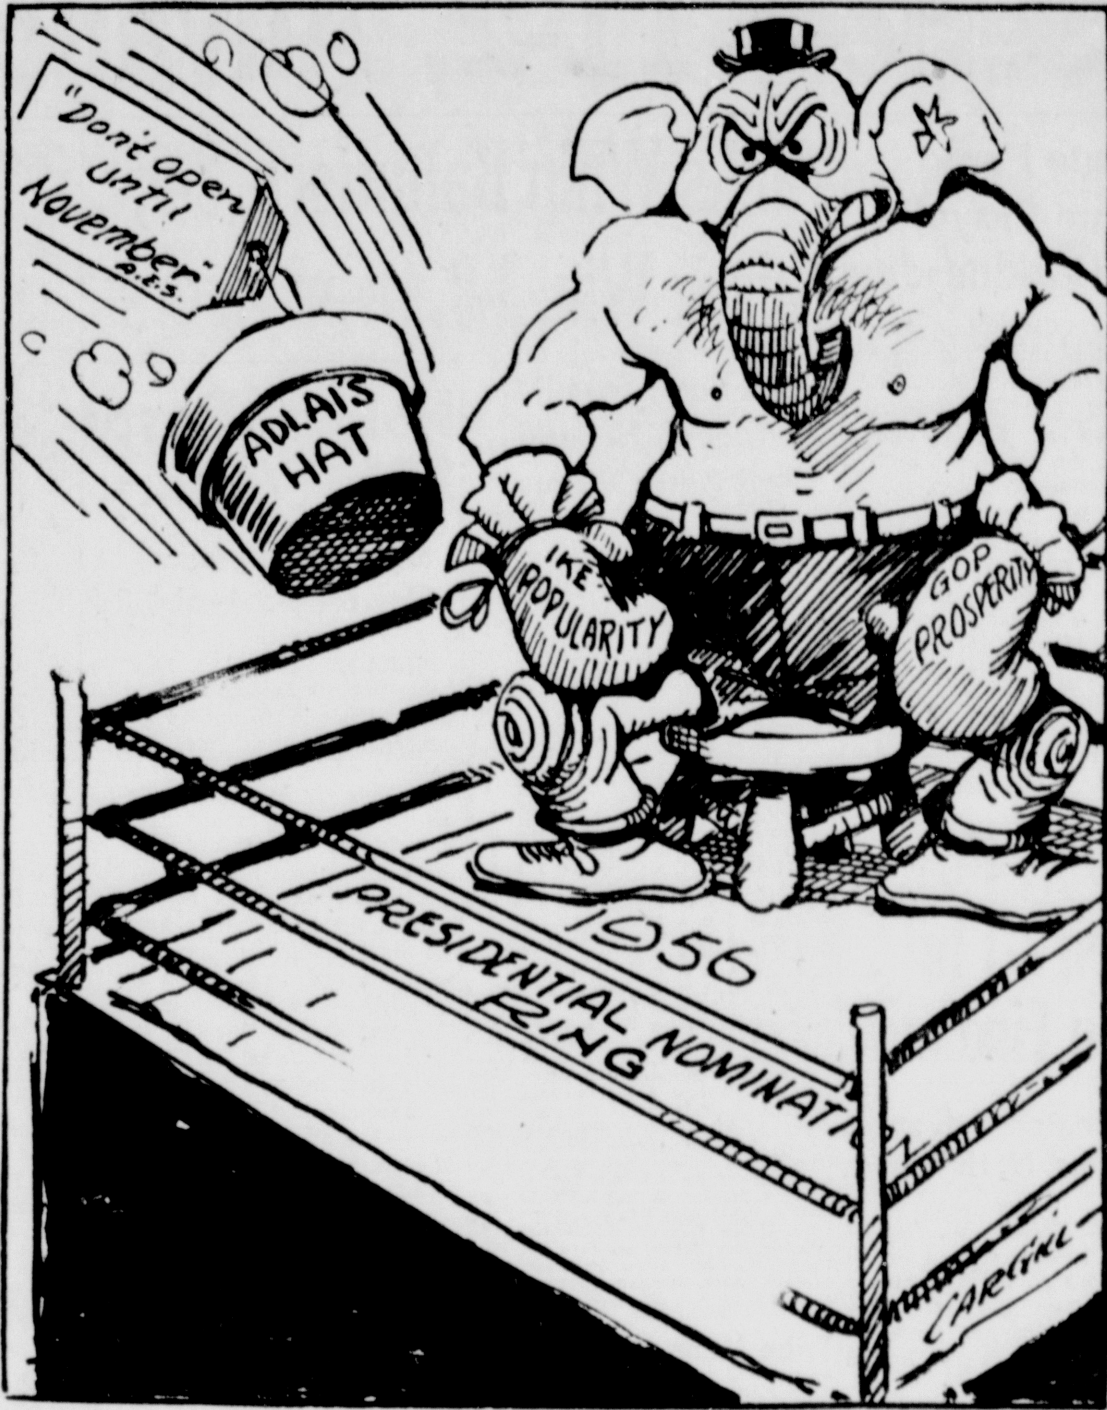

The limitations upon expenditures are as follows: (1) the sum of $50,000 if a candidate for senator or representative-at-large, or the sum of $12,500 if a candidate for representative, delegate, or resident commissioner; or

(2) in the case of an election other than a caucus or nominating convention, an amount equal to the amount obtained by multiplying 10 cents by the total number of votes cast in either the last primary election or the last general election for all candidates for the office which the candidate seeks."

These provisions are a step forward in making elections honest, but the elections continue to be costly which is really the issue. If the 1956 election, pre-convention and post-convention, costs both parties $100,000,000, it is too much. Half of that amount is too much. It simply means that whoever is elected president is obligated to too many persons and some of them not particularly proper persons. It makes little difference whether a candidate gets excessive contributions from, let us say, the Rockefeller family or the United Automobile Workers; the candidate places himself under obligations which ought to be beyond his capacity to fulfill. President Eisenhower has spent two years discovering how costly such obligations can be and how embarrassing at times.

Adequate limitations upon election contributions will help, but what needs to be done also is to place an absolute roof on expenditures. Expenditures can be traced more easily than contributions, particularly if they are spent on radio and television or in newspapers, and the penalty ought to be automatic expulsion from office once the excessive expenditures are established. That is the way it is done in Great Britain where elections are clean and honest and representative.

New Code Of Conduct Needed By Governments

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—It's strange to be reading a solemn pronouncement from a committee of eminent soldiers and civilians prescribing a code of conduct for Americans who may be captured hereafter as prisoners of war.

What war? Only a few days ago—after Geneva—the world was being told there isn't going to be any more war and that it is too horrible even to mention the subject in an age of nuclear weapons.

The document which tells future "prisoners" to be courageous also says that "the fight continues after the battle." This implies that the folks back home continue the battle, too.

Code For Governments Needed

It doesn't look that way now. Thousands of American boys—and some British, too, and the soldiers of other allies—were captured and many of them were tortured. But all during the time they were suffering, the "fight" in their behalf consisted to a large extent of exploring ways and means of appeasing the Communists. Today, even as the prisoners come back and tell of the frightful torture they encountered, there are prominent men in governments allied with us who want to reward the Red China government with a seat in the United Nations. Red China was declared an aggressor by the United Nations and is responsible for the cruelties and atrocities inflicted on soldiers who fought in behalf of the United Nations.

What's needed is a new code of conduct for governments that send boys off to war and forget them within a few months after the battle is over. Dispatches from prominent writers and from many capitals of the world all indicate that the next move is to appease Red China and give her a seat in the Security Council of the United Nations. This is called "relaxing tension."

After the last world war, the war criminals of militaristic Japan and Nazi Germany were punished. After the Korean War, the war criminals have been permitted to go scot free and may yet be rewarded with a seat in the United Nations.

How can future soldiers be inspired to fight for ideals if the members of the United Nations in whose great cause 30,000 American boys were sacrificed are to disregard ideals?

Only A Part

But disconcerting expressions from governments and statesmen allied with us are only a part of the current wave of appeasement.

There is, for example, a deliberate attempt to pooh-pooh Communist infiltration in the United States. Scarcely a day passes that some blow isn't struck at those who are fighting Communist subversion. Thus, in the last few days a document has been published of a study financed by the Ford Foundation. It selects pieces of testimony and tries to make the security proceedings of the United States look capricious and ludicrous. Nowhere is the full transcript of any hearing given so that both sides of the cross-examination and the reasons for it can be understood.

When Senator McCarthy stood up in the Senate and gave selected items about individuals suspected of Communist associations, he was pilloried for giving only one side. But when the Ford Foundation study gives only piecemeal items

Some Businessmen Undercut Others From Positions Inside Government

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—To understand what the shooting is about between Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, the Boston blueblood, and Congressman Manny Celler, the boy raised in the slums of Brooklyn, you have to know how flagrantly some businessmen have worked against other businessmen while planted in strategic jobs inside the government.

These businessmen used to be called $1-a-year men, because they gave part-time services for $1 though still working for their own companies. Today they are called WOC's, which has nothing to do with the WAC ladies of the Army, but means "without compensation."

This is not strictly true. Actually they are paid $15 a day expenses. The reason they draw no salary is because they don't want to give up their much bigger salary with their own company. Also by drawing no salary there is, supposedly no "conflict of interest," the law that caught Secretary of the Air Force Talbott in a bind when he pulled wires for his own company.

However, from these choice spots inside Secretary Weeks' establishment, some WOC businessmen have not only worked for their own companies but against other competitive companies in a scandalous manner.

Watching Scott Tissue

For instance, here is what Leonard E. Pasek of the Kimberly-Clark Paper Products Company did when operating under Weeks as assistant director of the Pulp, Paper and Paperboard Division of the National Production Authority.

Shortly after Eisenhower took office on January 20, 1953, Pasek sent this letter, February 9, 1953, to W. M. Wright of International Cellulotton Products Company, a Kimberly-Clark affiliate:

"Dear Bill—I happened to hear a statement the other day by Mr. McCabe, president of the Scott Paper Company, that they have planned their operations so as to reach a sales volume of three hundred million dollars before 1955. This, you will note, doubles their 1952 volume. I thought you might be interested."

Another affiliate of Kimberly-Clark is the Coosa River Newsprint Company of Alabama. On March 9, 1953, Pasek sent A. G. Wakeman, president of the company, an advance "confidential" copy of the statement which was made by H. B. "I thought you might like to see what two months of work in the government does to a fellow," added Pasek, referring to the fact that he had materially helped prepare McCoy's statement for Congress.

Called before the Celler committee to explain his unusual action, Pasek was asked by Committee Counsel Herbert Maletz:

"Do you think it is proper for a full-time government employee to make available to a person in private business confidential drafts of a statement proposed to be presented to a congressional committee?"

"I have made the statement three or four times that he didn't think it improper and I stand on the statement I made," replied Pasek.

"A statement like that might be of extreme value to a company," commented Chairman Celler. "It might affect the market quotation of stock. It might affect the supply and demand. It may have many far-reaching effects."

"My examination of that right now would not indicate that that might have any such bearing," replied Pasek, vaguely sparring for time.

"I am speaking in general," shot back Celler. "If you feel that you would not do anything untoward in passing on to your company or to private individuals a confidential proposed statement to be made before a congressional committee, then I don't think that you comprehend what is meant by a WOC employee of the government."

Try And Stop Me!

A couple of smart-alecs from Broadway were driving in Maryland when they found the road blocked by a sign warning: "Closed. Please detour." "Road looks okay to me," snorted the driver. "Some joker put that up; bet he owns a gas station on the detour." So they tossed the sign aside and proceeded about 10 miles, where they found a bridge washed out. They had to drive all the way back, cussing volubly. The sign was back on the road—with a footnote reading: "It really was closed, wasn't it?"

Elizabeth Pope, of Webster Groves, Mo., points out:

"It's easy enough to smile and be gay
With a glass, a girl, and a song.
But the fellow worth while is the one who can smile

When he has his old lady along."

"Our clothes," proclaims a sign in the window of a Lima, Ohio, apparel salon, "not only make girls look slim; they make men look round!"

Kiwanis Sweeps Lions Series, 11-2, Advances To Finals

Frisby Hurls Three-Hitter, Fans Eleven

Butts Gets Four Hits, Imes Smacks Homer In 16th Straight Victory

A three-hit pitching performance by Gary Frisby coupled with a 16-hit attack by his mates enabled the undefeated Kiwanis Club to sweep its series with the Lions Club last night at Penn Avenue Field and advance to the playoff finals in the Hot Stove Baseball League. The score was 11-2.

The Kiwanis tossers, victors in 16 games, had won the first game of the series from the Lions by the score of 5-2.

In the final best-of-three title series the Kiwanians will meet the winner of the B'nai B'rith-Optimist Club series which resumes Monday. B'nai B'rith took the first game, 7-4.

Kiwanis took a 2-0 lead in the first inning of last night's tilt, added four tallies in the third, four in the fifth and one in the sixth stanza.

In the initial frame hits by Gene Willetts and Fred Joyce grouped with "Bucky" Butts' walk and two errors produced two runs.

Singles by Butts, Willetts, Joyce and Frisby and a two-run double by "Chaz" Imes featured the 4-run explosion in the third.

The Lions broke the ice in the bottom of the third on Jim Peters' two-base hit and Montgomery's base walk.

During the four-run outburst in the fifth Butts garnered his fourth straight hit, scored on Joyce's bingle and the latter tallied when Imes blasted a homer. Ken Yankelevitz's sent over the fourth run of the frame to up the score to 10-1.

Base hits by Imes and Frisby netted the Kiwanis final tally in the sixth.

Montgomery's infield out brought the Lions their final marker in the seventh after Robinson walked, took second on an error and pilfered third base.

Frisby fanned 11 Lions and gave up nine bases on balls in registering his 8th consecutive victory. "Dickie" Garlitz whiffed 12 and issued two passes.

Butts, Frisby and Imes starred afield and at bat for the victors. Mulligan and Shircliffe excelled in the field for the losers. Score:

KIWANIS	204 041 0-11 16 2
LIONS	001 000 1-2 3 4

Palmer Retains Lead In Canada With 195 Score

Jack Burke Second, Five Strokes Back

TORONTO, Aug. 19 (AP)—Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., making his first bid this season on the pro tournament circuit, shot a dazzling 64 today for a three-round total of 195 to lead the field in the Canadian Open golf championship.

Superlative approach shots and accurate drives built up a remarkable game for last year's U.S. National Amateur champion and gave him a five-stroke bulge over the field.

Closest to Palmer was Jack Burke Jr., of Kiamas Lake, N.Y., who fired a 67 for a 200 total.

Palmer now is 21 strokes under par, a record for any three rounds in the 46-year-history of the tournament.

It was a sizzling day for the 26-year-old Palmer in sizzling weather and hot enough to cause the temperamental Tommy Bolt of Chattanooga to explode. Tommy lost both his temper and his caddy, changing bag-toters at the 12th hole.

Freddie Hawkins of St. Andrew's, Ill., and Art Wall Jr., of Pocano Manor, Pa., were tied for third place with 202, seven strokes behind Palmer.

At 205 was Mike Souchak of Grossingers, N.Y., and at 206 Jerry Barber of Los Angeles.

IF LASALLE adds any games to its schedule they will likely be with one or two of the following schools which the Explorers have played before with results as follows:

St. Francis Prep, Spring Grove, Pa., 2-4-0; Romney High 2-3-0; Catholic Central, Pittsburgh 1-2-0.

EDDIE CHRISTIAN, the youthful Canadian rider, who was injured in a spill at Hagerstown on Thursday, booted home 40 winners in 40 days at Charles Town before moving over to the Hub City.

OUR NOMINEE for the "Wonder Horse" of the minor racing ovals is a 13-year-old gelding named Alexis.

If you follow racing you've certainly heard about this faithful old thoroughbred which has been running for 12 years and is still going strong.

At the recent Faired session in June, Alexis started twice. In the first outing he earned "how money" and the second time out he lost to Young Turk by a nose.

His latest triumph was registered on Thursday when he won the eighth race at Wheeling and paid $16.50.

This remarkable animal has run on many tracks since 1944. His last outing at Wheeling was his 240th and he has finished "in the money" 139 times.

That's an amazing record of 58 per cent for the gallant old timer. Prior to the Wheeling race his earnings were $182,154.

Alexis has started 12 times this year and his record is 2-3-4. As a 3-year-old in 1945, Alexis ran second to Hoop, Jr., in the Wood Memorial at New York and wound up 10th in the 16-horse Kentucky Derby of that year. He won $28,550 in 1945 and $36,550 in 1946.

His old rivals have great grandsons and daughters in the racing business—but Alexis keeps on running.

A veteran horseman recently remarked:

"Did you ever notice when Alexis wins a race? He'll trot back to the winner's circle with his ears proudly perked up."

"Alexis just seems to be saying—I can still show those young fellows how to run!"

Just how long they'll allow the old campaigner to run we don't

Westport Post Beaten 2-1 In Legion Finale

Washington Advances To Keene, N. H. Games

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Aug. 19 (AP)—Ralph Lindamood's three-hit pitching chore gave Washington a 2-1 victory over Maryland today and the championship of American Legion Junior Baseball Region III.

The Washington team will represent the region in the Section A tournament beginning Sunday at Keene, N. H. Winner of the sectional will advance to the national finals in St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 30, Sept. 3.

Lindamood Fans Eight

Lindamood walked only four while striking out eight. All three hits he gave up were singles.

Dan Welsh, pitching for Baltimore Westport—last year's regional champion which repeated this season in the Maryland tournament—gave up only four hits. But three of them were for extra bases.

The Marylanders scored first. In the third John Boland walked, went to second on Dennis Cox's single, moved to third on a fielder's choice and scored on an error.

Washington tied the score in the seventh. Walter Mahan, running for Richard Keltner who had reached first on a fielder's choice, scored on Jim Pratt's triple.

The winning run scored in the eighth on a walk to John Wolf and Frank Copper's triple.

Maryland threatened in the ninth, getting runners to second and third, but Lindamood fanned pinch-hitter John Boland for the final out.

Officials Urged To Crack Down On False Starts

Wallace Wade Wants Strict Enforcement

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 19 (AP)—Wallace Wade, commissioner of the Southern Conference, told the league's football officials here today to crack down on the false start even though some coaches said strict enforcement might lead to excessive whistle-blowing and hinder the offense.

The false start, which has been in the football rules for several years, is a device, usually a sudden shift or motion of the arms or body, designed to draw the defense offside.

Stricter enforcement has been urged this year by the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. Rules Committee, and the Southern Conference. Wade made it clear, intends to follow the rule to the letter.

"I've sat in the stands I've seen films of games," Wade said, "and I saw teams win games because they used false starts. I don't think football games ought to be decided that way."

Discussion of the false start took up the major portion of the first day of the conference's annual officials' clinic.

"The next time you are in New York you're going to get shot in the head," it was said in the letter.

C. M. Higgins, postal inspector in charge here, said he believed the letter was "the work of some crank."

Kiwanis Sweeps Lions Series, 11-2, Advances To Finals

Frisby Hurls Three-Hitter, Fans Eleven

Butts Gets Four Hits, Imes Smacks Homer In 16th Straight Victory

A three-hit pitching performance by Gary Frisby coupled with a 16-hit attack by his mates enabled the undefeated Kiwanis Club to sweep its series with the Lions Club last night at Penn Avenue Field and advance to the playoff finals in the Hot Stove Baseball League. The score was 11-2.

The Kiwanis tossers, victors in 16 games, had won the first game of the series from the Lions by the score of 5-2.

In the final best-of-three title series the Kiwanians will meet the winner of the B'nai B'rith Optimist Club series which resumes Monday. B'nai B'rith took the first game, 7-4.

Kiwanis took a 2-0 lead in the first inning of last night's tilt, added four tallies in the third, four in the fifth and one in the sixth stanza.

In the initial frame hits by Gene Willets and Fred Joyce grouped with "Bucky" Butts' walk and two errors produced two runs.

Singles by Butts, Willets, Joyce and Frisby and a two-run double by "Chazz" Imes featured the 4-run explosion in the third.

The Lions broke the ice in the bottom of the third on Jim Peters' two-base hit and Montgomery's base walk.

During the four-run outburst in the fifth Butts garnered his fourth straight hit, scored on Joyce's bingle and the latter tallied when Imes blasted a homer. Ken Yankelevitz's sent over the fourth run of the frame to up the score to 10-1.

Base hits by Imes and Frisby netted the Kiwanis final tally in the sixth.

Montgomery's infield out brought the Lions their final marker in the seventh after Robinson walked, took second on an error and pilfered third base.

Frisby fanned 11 Lions and gave up nine bases on balls in registering his 8th consecutive victory. "Dickie" Garlitz whiffed 12 and issued two passes.

Butts, Frisby and Imes starred afield and at bat for the victors. Mulligan and Shircliffe excelled in the field for the losers. Score:

Palmer Retains Lead In Canada With 195 Score

Jack Burke Second, Five Strokes Back

TORONTO, Aug. 19 (AP)—Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., making his first bid this season on the pro tournament circuit, shot a dazzling 64 today for a three-round total of 195 to lead the field in the Canadian Open golf championship.

Superlative approach shots and accurate drives built up a remarkable game for last year's U.S. National Amateur champion and gave him a five-stroke bulge over the field.

Closest to Palmer was Jack Burke Jr., of Klamath Lake, N.Y., who fired a 67 for a 200 total.

Palmer now is 21 strokes under par, a record for any three rounds in the 46-year-history of the tournament.

It was a sizzling day for the 26-year-old Palmer in sizzling weather and hot enough to cause the temperamental Tommy Bolt of Chattanooga to explode. Tommy lost both his temper and his caddy, changing bag-toters at the 12th hole.

Freddie Hawkins of St. Andrew's, Ill., and Art Wall Jr., of Pocano Manor, Pa., were tied for third place with 202, seven strokes behind Palmer.

At 205 was Mike Souchak of Grossinger's, N.Y., and at 206 Jerry Barber of Los Angeles.

IF LAFAYETTE adds any games to its schedule they will likely be with one or two of the following schools which the Explorers have played before with results as follows:

St. Francis Prep, Spring Grove, Pa., 2-4-0; Romney High 2-3-0; Catholic Central, Pittsburgh 1-2-0.

EDDIE CHRISTISON, the youthful Canadian rider, who was injured in a spill at Hagerstown on Thursday, is doing well at Hagerstown in 40 days at Charles Town before moving over to the Hub City.

OUR NOMINEE for the "Wonder Horse" of the minor racing ovals is a 13-year-old gelding named Alexis.

If you follow racing you've certainly heard about this faithful old thoroughbred which has been running for 12 years and is still going strong.

At the recent Fairgo session in June, Alexis started twice. In the first outing he earned "how money" and the second time out he lost to Young Turk by a nose.

His latest triumph was registered on Thursday when he won the eighth race at Wheeling and paid $16.50.

This remarkable animal has run on many tracks since 1944. His last outing at Wheeling was his 240th and he has finished "in the money" 139 times.

That's an amazing record of 58 per cent for the gallant old timer. Prior to the Wheeling race his earnings were $182,154.

Alexis has started 12 times this year and his record is 2-3-4. As a 3-year-old in 1945, Alexis ran second to Hoop, Jr., in the Wood Memorial at New York and wound up 10th in the 16-horse Kentucky Derby of that year. He won $28,550 in 1945 and $36,550 in 1946.

His old rivals have great grandsons and daughters in the racing business—but Alexis keeps on running.

A veteran horseman recently remarked:

"Did you ever notice when Alexis wins a race? He'll trot back to the winner's circle with his ears proudly perked up."

"Alexis just seems to be saying—I can still show those young fellows how to run!"

Just how long they'll allow the old campaigner to run we don't know.

Westport Post Beaten 2-1 In Legion Finale

Washington Advances To Keene, N. H. Games

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Aug. 19 (AP)—Ralph Lindamood's three-hit pitching chore gave Washington a 2-1 victory over Maryland today and the championship of American Legion Junior Baseball Region III.

The Washington team will represent the region in the Section A tournament beginning Sunday at Keene, N.H. Winner of the sectional will advance to the national finals in St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 30-Sept. 3.

Lindamood Fans Eight

Lindamood walked only four while striking out eight. All three hits he gave up were singles.

Dan Welsh, pitching for Baltimore Westport—last year's regional champion which repeated this season in the Maryland tournament—gave up only four hits. But three of them were for extra bases.

The Marylanders scored first. In the third John Boland walked, went to second on Dennis Cox' single, moved to third on a fielder's choice and scored on an error.

Washington tied the score in the seventh. Walter Mahan, running for Richard Keltner who had reached first on a fielder's choice, scored on Jim Pratt's triple.

Triple Wins Game

The winning run scored in the eighth on a walk to John Wolf and Frank Copper's triple.

Maryland threatened in the ninth, getting runners to second and third, but Lindamood fanned pinch-hitter John Boland for the final out.

Yankees Are Invited To Play In Japan

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP)—The New York Yankees have been invited to make a good will trip to Japan, similar to that taken by the Giants two years ago, and there's a good chance they will accept.

No final decision has been made and until one is reached the club can make no statement, a Yankee spokesman explained.

However, it is reported that the plans call for the Yankees to fly from New York to San Francisco the day after the World Series and to take off from there for a seven-week trip that will include four games in Honolulu and 12 in Japan.

Officials Urged To Crack Down On False Starts

Wallace Wade Wants Strict Enforcement

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 19 (AP)—Wallace Wade, commissioner of the Southern Conference, told the league's football officials here today to crack down on the false start even though some coaches said strict enforcement might lead to excessive whistle-blowing and hinder the offense.

The false start, which has been in the football rules for several years, is a device, usually a sudden shift or motion of the arms or body, designed to draw the defense offside.

Stricter enforcement has been urged this year by the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. Rules Committee, and the Southern Conference, Wade made it clear, intends to follow the rule to the letter.

"I've sat in the stands I've seen films of games," Wade said, "and I saw teams win games because they used false starts. I don't think football games ought to be decided that way."

Discussion of the false start took up the major portion of the first day of the conference's annual officials' clinic.

Swaps Aims For $9,600 Jackpot In American Derby Today

Coast Comet To Run First Race On Grass

Seeks 8th Straight Win; $146,425 Gross If Six Go To Post

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 19 (AP)—The sensational Swaps, who this year has beaten every sophomore of note, including Nashua, aims for an $9,600 jackpot in the American Derby tomorrow and his eighth straight triumph.

Five courageous challengers will go against the California Comet in the mile and three-sixteenths grass course feature for 3-year-olds at Washington Park.

Posttime is 5 p.m. (EST) and the race will be televised and broadcast by CBS.

Trying to upset the 3.5 favorite will be Harvey C. Fruehauf's Parador, Clifford Moores' Traffic Judge, Hasty House Farm's Summer Solstice, W. L. Ranch's Honey's Alibi and Mrs. Harry Nathanson's Ambiguous.

If a field of six goes to the post, the fixture will gross $146,425 with a winner's share of $39,600.

In 33 starts in his career, Swaps has 10 victories and two shows. He has won $349,900 for his owner, Rex Ellsworth.

First Race On Grass

The 45th running of the American Derby will mark the Khaleel Iron Reward colt's first competitive appearance on a grass course.

However, he has been spectacular in workouts on the sod, capping preparations by stepping six furlongs yesterday in :57 2-5, nearly two seconds under the American turf record for that distance.

The forecast for tomorrow is for clear hot weather, ideal for a shot at the American turf mark of 1:54 3-5 for a mile and three-sixteenths set recently by Platan in winning the Arlington Handicap. The Washington Park record is 1:54 4-5 by volcanic four years ago.

Swaps, packing 126 pounds, will post seven to Traffic Judge and Parador and 13 to Ambiguous, Summer Solstice and Honey's Alibi.

The American Derby is Swaps' first objective in drawing a head on nearly $200,000 in his Chicago appearance. He is scheduled for a $100,000 winner-take-all match race Aug. 31, on Washington Park's dirt track with Nashua, whose only loss was to Swaps in the Kentucky Derby.

Hartack On Parador

The improving Parador, whose workouts have been nearly as brilliant as Swaps', captured the Sheridan Handicap two weeks ago and will be ridden by Willie Shoemaker—who will be aboard Swaps—in their blistering duel for national jockey honors.

Hartack is leading Willie Shoemaker—who will be aboard Swaps—in their blistering duel for national jockey honors.

Shoulder Injury Puts Conley Out

Braves Lose Hurler Remainder Of Season

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 19 (AP)—A medical specialist made it official today: Milwaukee Braves right-hander Gene Conley is out for the season.

Dr. Bruce Brewer, who examined Conley today, reported that the towering pitcher has suffered an injury to the ligaments that hold together the bones of the shoulder.

The injury, Dr. Brewer said, is "much more serious" than a strained or pulled shoulder and recommended that Conley be given a complete rest.

The Braves front office said that because only a few weeks remain, Conley is definitely out. Conley had won 11 games before the shoulder went bad July 22. He lost his seventh decision in his only start since then.

Russ Ponton Wins Twilight Tourney

Russell Ponton won the Twilight Golf Tournament held yesterday by the Men's Golf Association of the Cumberland Country Club, turning in a low net score of 17 to pace a field of 38 players.

Five players finished in a tie for second place with 19s. They were N. Taylor, Dick Zembower, Dr. A. G. Sandhoff, Rev. Ray Richardson and Bill George.

Morton Peskin, Jr., made the longest drive of 300 yards on hole No. 8.

POETIC JUSTICE

AT TIMES the goddess of luck is simply capricious, putting all sorts of obstacles in the path of a player who has done nothing wrong. But at other times she acts with a sort of poetic justice—and that was the case in the South, below, was concerned.

South dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

♠ 4	♥ J 10 9 8
♦ A 6 5 4 3 2	♣ 6 4 2
♠ 10 9 8	♥ K Q 10 9
♦ 10 9	♣ A K Q 6 5 2
♠ J 7 5 3	♥ K Q J 8
	♣ A 8 2

The bidding:
1♠ 2♥ North East
3♥ 4♥ Pass Pass
4♥ Pass Pass Pass

West opened the heart king, but only to see it ruffed. South then laid down the ace and king of spades—and when East turned up with five trumps, South announced to the world that "no one had ever been cursed with such breaks!" South stopped leading trumps and started on the diamonds.

Programming Up

While John Crosby is on vacation, his column will be conducted by guest writers. Today's contributor is Sylvester L. Weaver Jr., president of the National Broadcasting Company.

The press, John Crosby included, has given some attention in recent months to an NBC policy called "Enlightenment Through Exposure." Under this policy, we try to weave elements of cultural, informational and educational value into our prime-time shows without detracting from the entertainment values that lure mass audiences. The press response has ranged from extremes of praise to extremes of skepticism. Mr. Crosby, I would judge, has steered a middle course. To him the policy presently means that "little snippets of culture are inserted in regular shows whose purpose is mostly to entertain." He has appraised our efforts as "a small beginning—but you have to start somewhere." Fair enough!

Out of this small beginning we frankly aim to create something that is useful, inspiring and educational as well as entertaining—something that contains elements of appeal for everyone. We do this because a lot of us in network television believe, unblinkingly, that we are shaping an instrument with the greatest potential for good since the invention of the printing press. Our problem is how to go about unleashing this great force for good, how to expose more people to more good.

I believe there are two things we must do. First, the cultural infusion; more and more snippets woven into a cultural mosaic of fine music, fine art, fine drama. As the level of popular appreciation rises, we must keep pace with increased programming of a cultural nature. We must keep pace with increased programming of a cultural nature. We must make culture a commodity of mass appeal.

Second—and in support of that first aim—we must make television fluid. The old rigid radio programming forms of regular half-hour and hour shows are not our answer. Used alone, they would limit television, would make it a small instrument achieving only small ends. We have, therefore, sought fluidity by opening up television to programs scheduled in an irregular pattern. True, we have kept the old radio forms and we shall continue to do so. But we have added new ones—ninety minute and two-hour spectacles in color, live; special telepresentations like Henry Salomon's story of the atom, "Three-Two-One-Zero."

This is program fluidity such as radio never knew. Next season, NBC and CBS alone will program more than 100 spectacles. Some, like our live color presentation of the Sadler's Wells Ballet, will be 90-minute snippets of pure culture. We have another name for this type of big special programming, with its emphasis on fine art and fine music. We call it "programming up." It is the antithesis of the motion picture philosophy of programming down to the lowest denominator of mass appeal. Unlike the movies, we in television (Continued on Page 13)

POETIC JUSTICE

AT TIMES the goddess of luck is simply capricious, putting all sorts of obstacles in the path of a player who has done nothing wrong. But at other times she acts with a sort of poetic justice—and that was the case insofar as South, below, was concerned.

Programming Up

While John Crosby is on vacation, his column will be conducted by guest writers. Today's contributor is Sylvester L. Weaver Jr., president of the National Broadcasting Company.

The press, John Crosby included, has given some attention in recent months to an NBC policy called "Enlightenment Through Exposure." Under this policy, we try to weave elements of cultural, informational and educational value into our prime-time shows without detracting from the entertainment values that lure mass audiences. The press response has ranged from extremes of praise to extremes of skepticism. Mr. Crosby, I would judge, has steered a middle course. To him the policy presently means that "little snippets of culture are inserted in regular shows whose purpose is mostly to entertain." He has appraised our efforts as "a small beginning—but you have to start somewhere." Fair enough!

Out of this small beginning we frankly aim to create something that is useful, inspiring and educational as well as entertaining—something that contains elements of appeal for everyone. We do this because a lot of us in network television believe, unblinkingly, that we are shaping an instrument with the greatest potential for good since the invention of the printing press. Our problem is how to go about unleashing this great force for good, how to expose more people to more good.

I believe there are two things we must do. First, the cultural infusion: more and more snippets woven into a cultural mosaic of fine music, fine art, fine drama. As the level of popular appreciation rises, we must keep pace with increased programming of a cultural nature. We must keep pace with increased programming of a cultural nature. We must make culture a commodity of mass appeal.

Second—and in support of that first aim—we must make television fluid. The old rigid radio programming forms of regular half-hour and hour shows are not our answer. Used alone, they would limit television, would make it a small instrument achieving only small ends. We have, therefore, sought fluidity by opening up television to programs scheduled in an irregular pattern. True, we have kept the old radio forms and we shall continue to do so. But we have added new ones—ninety minute and two-hour spectacles in color, live; special teleumentaries like Henry Salomon's story of the atom, "Three-Two-One-Zero."

This is program fluidity such as radio never knew. Next season, NBC and CBS alone will program more than 100 spectacles. Some, like our live color presentation of the Sadler's Wells Ballet, will be 90-minute snippets of pure culture.

We have another name for this type of big special programming, with its emphasis on fine art and fine music. We call it "programming up." It is the antithesis of the motion picture philosophy of programming down to the lowest denominator of mass appeal. Unlike the movies, we in television

AFL Temple, Tablet Are Dedicated

Hines Lauds Assembly For Killing Work Bill At Recent Session

Lewis G. Hines, Washington, personal representative of AFL President George Meany, yesterday dedicated the Allegheny Labor Temple, South Liberty Street, as the major event of Business, Labor and Industry Day of the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial.

The AFL official also unveiled, in the presence of several hundred labor, business and civic leaders, a memorial tablet paying tribute to labor pioneers of Allegheny County.

The bronze plaque was set in a large sandstone which came from the road traveled by General Brad-dock and his armies on the ill-fated campaign against Fort Duquesne two centuries ago.

Ladies Are Praised

Introduced by F. Patrick Allender, president of the Allegheny Trades Council, Hines paid tribute to the many ladies present at the ceremony.

They, he said, have been playing an increasingly important part in the labor movement since "they know what organized labor has done for the people of their community."

He said women know that their men now have more time at home and bring home a bigger pay envelope which goes further.

The increased interest of women in labor affairs, he said, is symbolic of their determination to go forward.

"Show me a community which has a good labor movement," he said, "and I will show you a progressive community."

Cities War Effort

Hines also paid tribute to the part labor has played in the nation's history, adding that the ranks of labor furnished 2,000,000 of its members to the Armed Services during World War II.

Some 85 per cent of the Seabees, he said, came from the building trades, and made notable contributions to the war in spite of the fact that many of them could not enlist because of age or other military requirements.

The AFL official, referring to the fight against Communism, said the Reds have not and are not going to capture the labor movement in America.

Referring to labor's contributions to the United States, Hines said labor does not feel it is being treated right when "we are denied our essential rights" in some 18 states which have "right to wreck" laws.

Praises Assembly

The Maryland Assembly, he added, showed foresight in killing the so called "right to work" bill introduced this spring.

The Allegheny Trades Council, he said, built a bridge for those to come when it established its new labor temple.

The building was purchased in June, 1954, for about $35,000 and is now valued at up to $78,000 as a result of a remodeling program for which crafts provided free labor.

The temple was first occupied last July and now serves as the home for most of the AFL unions of this county.

Introduced were Miss Diane Wilson, Bicentennial Queen, who was backed by the Labor Bicentennial Committee; Mayor Roy W. Eves and Commissioner John J. Long, Senator J. Glenn Beall and Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde and members of the Allegheny County Delegation.

Representatives of all major labor unions were also introduced at the ceremony.

Supermarket Will Be Built

A house at 662 Greene Street is being torn down and it is reported reliably that a new supermarket will be constructed on the site to be leased by the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company.

This property was sold by Mrs. Henriette Anderson to Charles Eugene Howell, local coal dealer, and his wife, Mary Howell, according to a deed filed for record in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegheny County Circuit Court. The deed was recorded May 26.

When questioned yesterday Howell said he was not in a position to make any statement concerning likely use of the property, which is situated in the neighborhood of a number of service stations.

Other reliable sources, however, verified the long persistent rumor that the A&P plans to lease the market once it is completed.

This new West Side store is not expected to have any effect upon the A&P's present store on Wine-ow Street, which was remodeled last spring.

Memorial Tablet Is Dedicated

Lewis G. Hines, personal representative of AFL President George Meany, congratulates Miss Diane Wilson, who became Bicentennial Queen under Labor's banner, at a service dedicating the Allegheny Labor Temple to labor pioneers of Allegheny County. Taking part in the ceremony are Joseph F. Garlitz, chairman of the dedication program; Miss Wilson, Hines, Mayor Roy W. Eves, F. Patrick Allender, president of the Allegheny Trades Council, and Paul L. Burley, secretary of the AFL central body.

Walker Praises Labor's Part In City's History

Hails Coming Union Of AFL And CIO

An official of a top CIO union declared here last night that organized labor, working hand in hand with civic and fraternal groups, "has played no small part" in the development of Cumberland from a trading post to "one of America's great cities."

Speaking on a program marking Business, Labor and Industry Day of the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial prior to a performance of "Redskins and Redcoats," Desmond M. Walker, Akron, general secretary-treasurer of the United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, offered congratulations of the American labor movement on the Cumberland Bicentennial.

He read a message from Walter P. Reuther, CIO president, expressing regret that he could not attend. The CIO chief sent best wishes to members of the labor movement in this area.

Cities Unification

"We all work," Reuther said, "in the tradition of Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell, 'Mother Jones,' and the beloved Phil Murray of the CIO," and added:

"As these pioneers contributed to the abundant life of all who lived in Cumberland, we must continue... their firm faith in democratic labor and the principles of a free and democratic world."

Walker said 1955, which marks a major landmark in the Queen City's history, is important to organized labor.

Two great labor organizations, he said, will meet in New York City in December to form the united organization to be known as the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O.

He said he hoped that labor unions in this area will lead the field in the unification program following the AFL-CIO unification convention.

To Mark Birthday

He announced that Local 26, URCLPWA, which represents hourly-paid workers of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, will mark its 20th anniversary this year.

Walker was introduced by Mayor Roy W. Eves at the pre-performance event marking another appearance of Miss Diane Wilson, who, campaigning under labor's banner, won the title of Bicentennial Queen.

Leaders of Labor and Industry were honored earlier last evening at a dinner meeting held in the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

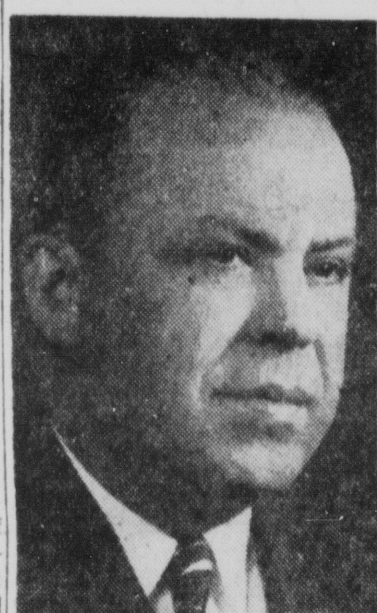

Industry representatives were introduced by Charles S. Catherman Jr., and the labor officials by Mayor Roy W. Eves.

4:30 p. m.—Burying of time capsule at Constitution Park.
7 p. m.—Grand parade.
8:15 p. m.—Program by veterans organizations at Fort Hill Stadium with Paul H. Griffith, past national commander of American Legion, as main speaker.
8:45 p. m.—Bicentennial pageant.
10 p. m.—Dance on South Centre Street.

Big Crowds Are Expected For Bicentennial Events

WILL SPEAK—Paul H. Griffith, past national commander of the American Legion, will deliver the American Heritage Day address tonight at the program preceding the presentation of "Redskins and Redcoats," at Fort Hill High Stadium.

Over 130 Units To Participate In Parade Here

Over 130 units including colorful floats, snappy drum and bugle corps, crack musical organizations, high stepping majorettes, volunteer firemen, marching units and a sprinkling of early vintage automobiles and horses and buggies will all be part of the mammoth Bicentennial parade scheduled to get under way at 7 p. m. today.

Thomas F. Conlon Sr., parade marshal, last night said the mile-long revue will be one of the largest ever staged in the Queen City.

The five division parade will form on various streets facing First Street.

Conlon added that the parade will assemble at 6 p. m. and march off promptly at 7 p. m. The line of march will be from Race Street to Oldtown Road to Louisiana Avenue, Kent Avenue to Greenway Avenue, where the reviewing stand will be located in front of Fort Hill High School.

The parade will proceed to Avondale Street and back to Kent Avenue where it will disband. Conlon reminds the public not to park their cars in the immediate area of the parade route in order that the revue will not be hampered in any way.

"Light Artillery" To Fire

Parade viewers will know when the revue gets under way as they will hear light artillery in charge of Edward Wahl and Joseph Wolf, gunnery sergeants of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion.

With the heralding of the revue by the light artillery, the following will be assembled on Arch Street and will comprise the first division to march off:

Maryland State Police; Cumberland City Police, Marshal Conlon; Mayor and Commissioners of Cumberland riding in automobiles; National Guard Drum and Bugle Corps; Hdq. and Hdq. Company, 115th Infantry Regiment, National Guard; Company C, 115th Infantry.

Allegheny County Civil Defense team, Fulton Myers drum and bugle corps, VFW Post No. 3504, Meyersdale; American Red Cross, Sad Sacks, Dicken pony and cart entry, old car entry of J. Paul Fisher, Haines horse and pony entrance.

Thousands of additional visitors from the Tri-State area are expected to come to Cumberland today to help the Queen City observe American Heritage Day activities of the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial Celebration.

The program will open at 4:30 p. m. with the burying of the time

Extra Pageant Showing Possible

There was a possibility last night that an extra production of the pageant, "Redskins and Redcoats," will be held Sunday night at Fort Hill Stadium.

Attendance last night was a capacity crowd of 4,200 who filled all reserved seats, general admission seats and available standing room.

Should the show be sold out again tonight, and there is every indication that it will be, there is a distinct possibility a final performance will be staged Sunday night on a first come, first served general admission ticket basis.

capsule at the entrance to Constitution Park.

The grand parade, expected to be the most spectacular ever held in the Queen City, will get under way at 7 p. m.

Paul H. Griffith, past national commander of the American Legion, will deliver the principal address at 8:15 p. m. program at Fort Hill High Stadium, prior to the 8:45 p. m. performance of the Bicentennial spectacle, "Redskins and Redcoats."

Scheduled at 12:05 a. m. tomorrow is a ceremony marking the changeover by the C & P Telephone Company from operator to dial service.

At that time, the $2,000,000 dial system will be placed in operation.

The new Parkway dial exchanges will offer direct distance dialing, giving Cumberland the most modern telephone system in the world.

A free street dance will be held on South Centre Street, near the telephone building, following tonight's pageant.

County Plans Not To Accept Eckhart Road

Other Provisions Cited In Letter

The Allegheny County Board of Commissioners has decided not to accept State Route 743A, old U. S. 40 from new U. S. Route 40 to State Route 638 at Eckhart, and again to U. S. Route 40 in a proposed exchange of roads with the State Roads Commission.

William H. Lemmert, board president, yesterday wrote William F. Childs Sr., advisory engineer for the State Roads Commission, about the county commissioners' intentions on this road. The board president explained that a group of Eckhart residents had appeared before the commissioners about a week ago opposing the inclusion of Route 743A in the exchange.

As outlined, the county commissioners would accept stretches of 21 different roads, totaling 16.19 miles which now are a part of the State Roads system. Elimination of Route 743A would reduce the number to 20 and 14.99 miles.

Letter From Childs

The commissioners yesterday received a communication from Childs in which he outlined provisions under which Lemmert, Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the county commissioners, and County Roads Supervisor J. Walker Chapman have agreed to proceed with the road exchange. Specific provisions are listed concerning six of the 21 roads in question.

The provisions:

1. Concerning Maryland 731 south of Barton southerly for a distance of 1.35 miles to Maryland 36, the county agreed to accept the Flag Rock Bridge and its approaches if the SRC will place a steel deck on the bridge at Morrison.

2. The county agreed to accept Maryland 730 from Barton south 22 miles to Maryland 36, if the SRC will raise pipe under the highway or otherwise correct drainage conditions at Berry's print shop and surface treat the road.

3. The county will accept the 34 miles section of Maryland 729 from Moscow Mills to Maryland 36 on condition that decking be repaired and the road surface treated.

4. The county will accept Maryland 656 from Maryland 36 at Lonaconing to another point of Maryland 36, a distance of .65 miles, on condition that improvements be made to the bridge and that the road be surface treated.

5. The county will accept Maryland 654 from Maryland 36 to Frostburg, a stretch of .49 miles, provided a drainage problem at the foot of Welsh's Hill is corrected.

6. The county will accept Maryland 743 B and D, two sections of old Route 40 between Allegheny Grove and Eckhart Mines, totaling .57 miles if the SRC constructs a barrier and erects dead end signs.

Childs states in his letter that the commission has agreed to these provisions.

According to Mrs. Ralph Isiminger, council president, the float was built at practically no cost to the Scouts, and was made possible only because so many people helped.

The farm wagon on which it is constructed was loaned by J. S. Buckley of Oldtown and was obtained by Mrs. Gilbert Miller. The tractor which draws it was provided by Ross Decker and was driven Monday by Robert Crump. Today's driver will be Clem Armstrong.

Theodore Foote, Mrs. Leonard Murphy, Eleanor Murphy, Miss Thelma Price, Mrs. Paul Steina, Mrs. C. Eugene Howell and Mrs. Dora Parsons all helped plan it.

The building and decorating committee and volunteers included John S. Cook Sr., who donated the lumber, and served as supervisor, Allan Deffenbaugh, James Kismore, Sara Murphy, Leonard Murphy, Thomas Murphy, Walter Maxey, Mr. and Mrs. Aden Everstine, Mary Jane Howell, Miss Oliver Hurlburt, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Isiminger and Carol Isiminger.

The float was designed to display all the different styles of Girl Scout uniforms ever used in this country. The uniforms were loaned to the Council without cost by the National Girl Scout Council headquarters.

Modeling the uniforms on the float today will be Linda Morey, 1912; Carolyn Keech, about 1918; Cheryl Pence, about 1922; Bonnie Jean Price, about the same period; Mrs. William Frey, late 1920s.

In modern uniforms will be Terry Deffenbaugh and Janet Kismore, Brownies; Suetta Sulser and Trudy Rannels, Intermediates; and Mary Jane Howell, Senior, and Mrs. Robert Poling, leader.

McKeldin, SRC Refuse Funds For Inquiry

No Public Demand, Governor Asserts

BALTIMORE, Aug. 19 (AP)—Both Gov. McKeldin and the State Roads Commission today turned down a Legislative Council demand for special funds to finance an investigation of the Roads Commission.

The governor said he concurred in the belief of the three members of the Roads Commission that such an inquiry is not warranted.

"Nor has the 'public demand' mentioned in the (Legislative Council) resolution been evidenced to me," he said.

The three members of the commission—Chairman Russell McCain of Frederick, Edgar T. Bennett of Salisbury and Bramwell Kelly of Baltimore—invited the Legislative Council to inspect the commission's files and records.

"All phases of our operation are an open public record," they said. "We welcome and invite constructive criticism from any source."

The Legislative Council, like the General Assembly heavily weighted with Democrats, asked the Republican-dominated commission to initiate and the Republican governor to approve a budget amendment which would make $25,000 available for an inquiry.

The Council has no other immediate way to get funds, but some members voted to forego their pay as members of the council in order to get an inquiry started if the budget amendment was turned down.

An investigation of the Roads Commission was the subject of much wrangling at the 90-day General Assembly session earlier this year. It is sure to come up again when the Legislature meets in February for 30 days.

Gov. McKeldin took this into consideration in refusing to approve funds for an inquiry now.

"If developments at that time (next February) warrant expenditure of funds for improvement, or even investigation of the State Roads Commission," he said, "the legislature will have full power to initiate same."

"Such expenditure at this time, on the facts presented to me, would seem both untimely and unnecessary."

Md.-DC AFL Plans 50th Convention

The Maryland and District of Columbia Federation of Labor will hold its golden anniversary convention in Washington early next June.

Plans for the 50th annual convention were announced here yesterday by C. E. Stutzman, Western Maryland vice president of the state AFL organization.

The Executive Board of the Maryland-D. C. AFL Council met here Thursday night so members could be present for today's dedication of the Allegheny Labor Temple during the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial.

The 1956 convention will be held June 4 through 8 with headquarters in the Willard Hotel.

Plans are being made to hold a dedication service in honor of Frank J. Coleman, long-time secretary of the state AFL, who died this spring. Mr. Coleman, of Baltimore, has been in Cumberland on a number of occasions and was well known in labor circles.

The Executive Board, headed by Henry Cohen, named C. L. Preller, Washington, chairman of the committee on convention arrangements.

Cohen said the next meeting of the executive board will be held in December or January in Salisbury.

Marine Drum Corps To Be In Parade

The United States Marine Drum and Bugle Corps of Washington will appear in the American Heritage Day parade tonight.

The famed unit will lead the third division of the parade and will also play several selections at the 8:15 p. m. pre-pageant ceremonies at the Fort Hill Stadium.

Girl Scouts Build Float For Bicentennial Parade

With a little ingenuity, some hard work, and the gracious assistance of a number of friends, the Girl Scouts of Cumberland Council built one of the colorful floats which will be seen in tonight's mammoth Bicentennial street parade. It was exhibited in the float parade Monday.

According to Mrs. Ralph Isiminger, council president, the float was built at practically no cost to the Scouts, and was made possible only because so many people helped.

The farm wagon on which it is constructed was loaned by J. S. Buckley of Oldtown and was obtained by Mrs. Gilbert Miller. The tractor which draws it was provided by Ross Decker and was driven Monday by Robert Crump. Today's driver will be Clem Armstrong.

Theodore Foote, Mrs. Leonard Murphy, Eleanor Murphy, Miss Thelma Price, Mrs. Paul Steina, Mrs. C. Eugene Howell and Mrs. Dora Parsons all helped plan it.

The building and decorating committee and volunteers included John S. Cook Sr., who donated the lumber, and served as supervisor, Allan Deffenbaugh, James Kismore, Sara Murphy, Leonard Murphy, Thomas Murphy, Walter Maxey, Mr. and Mrs. Aden Everstine, Mary Jane Howell, Miss Oliver Hurlburt, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Isiminger and Carol Isiminger.

The float was designed to display all the different styles of Girl Scout uniforms ever used in this country. The uniforms were loaned to the Council without cost by the National Girl Scout Council headquarters.

Modeling the uniforms on the float today will be Linda Morey, 1912; Carolyn Keech, about 1918; Cheryl Pence, about 1922; Bonnie Jean Price, about the same period; Mrs. William Frey, late 1920s.

In modern uniforms will be Terry Deffenbaugh and Janet Kismore, Brownies; Suetta Sulser and Trudy Rannels, Intermediates; and Mary Jane Howell, Senior, and Mrs. Robert Poling, leader.

ALBAN C. THOMPSON

Alban Thompson, Former Public Official, Dies

Retired From Court Post Last May 1

Alban C. Thompson, 74, of 208 Saratoga Street, prominent former public official, died yesterday at 9:05 p. m. in Memorial Hospital, where he had been a patient since July 4.

Born in Lonaconing May 25, 1881, he was a son of the late William and Agnes (Schuyler) Thompson. His father served as mayor of Lonaconing for 14 terms, was twice elected to the office of Allegheny County commissioner, and also served as president of the county board.

Alban C. Thompson received his early education in the public schools at Lonaconing and later became a steam engineer for the same capacity until 1914, when he resigned following 10 years' service for the New Central Coal Company to accept the appointment offered by the Board of County Commissioners to the superintendency of Sylvan Retreat, the Allegheny County Infirmary.

Moving to Cumberland in 1913, he is credited with initiating the major proportion of permanent improvements made in the grounds and buildings at the county institution.

He was reappointed to this office in 1916, and continued to serve until 1918, when he was elected to the office of county treasurer by the largest majority ever accorded a candidate for that office in Allegheny County.

In 1919 he obtained employment with the Hunkin-Conkey Construction Company, which was then building the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant.

A short time later he joined International Steam and Operating Engineer Local No. 761, of which he became president. In 1920 he was named president of the Building Trades Council.

The following year Mr. Thompson was elected again to the post of county treasurer for the 1922-23 term. He was then appointed tax collector for the years 1924-26.

He was connected with the county tax office for 18 years and was instrumental in having the law concerning the notice of levy increased from 30 days to 60 days.

In 1931 Mr. Thompson was appointed assistant tax collector, a position he held until 1939, when he was again appointed county tax collector.

In 1952 he was appointed magistrate of Allegheny County Juvenile Court, an office he held until he resigned on May 1 of this year.

Survivors include his widow, the former Miss Bertha May Orr, whom he married on October 28, 1903 in Frostburg Presbyterian Church; three daughters, Mrs. Samuel B. Craig, Pittsburgh; Mrs. John M. McIsaac and Mrs. William Clark, of Washington, D. C.; and seven grandchildren.

Mr. Thompson was a member of First Presbyterian Church, and of the Knights of Pythias, and Cumberland Camp 62, Patriotic Order Sons of America.

AFL Temple, Tablet Are Dedicated

Hines Lauds Assembly For Killing Work Bill At Recent Session

Lewis G. Hines, Washington, personal representative of AFL President George Meany, yesterday dedicated the Allegany Labor Temple, South Liberty Street, as the major event of Business, Labor and Industry Day of the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial.

The AFL official also unveiled, in the presence of several hundred labor, business and civic leaders, a memorial tablet paying tribute to labor pioneers of Allegany County.

The bronze plaque was set in a large sandstone which came from the road traveled by General Braddock and his armies on the ill-fated campaign against Fort Duquesne two centuries ago.

Ladies Are Praised

Introduced by F. Patrick Allender, president of the Allegany Trades Council, Hines paid tribute to the many ladies present at the ceremony.

They, he said, have been playing an increasingly important part in the labor movement since "they know what organized labor has done for the people of their community."

He said women know that their men now have more time at home and bring home a bigger pay envelope which goes further.

The increased interest of women in labor affairs, he said, is symbolic of their determination to go forward.

"Show me a community which has a good labor movement," he said, "and I will show you a progressive community."

Cites War Effort

Hines also paid tribute to the part labor has played in the nation's history, adding that the ranks of labor furnished 2,000,000 of its members to the Armed Services during World War II.

Some 85 per cent of the Seabees, he said, came from the building trades, and made notable contributions to the war in spite of the fact that many of them could not enlist because of age or other military requirements.

The AFL official, referring to the fight against Communism, said the Reds have not and are not going to capture the labor movement in America.

Referring to labor's contributions to the United States, Hines said labor does not feel it is being treated right when "we are denied our essential rights" in some 18 states which have "right to wreck" laws.

Praises Assembly

The Maryland Assembly, he added, showed foresight in killing the so-called "right to work" bill introduced this spring.

The Allegany Trades Council, he said, built a bridge for those to come when it established its new labor temple.

The building was purchased in June, 1954, for about $35,000 and is now valued at up to $78,000 as a result of a remodeling program for which crafts provided free labor.

The temple was first occupied last July and now serves as the home for most of the AFL unions of this county.

Introduced were Miss Diane Wilson, Bicentennial Queen, who was backed by the Labor Bicentennial Committee; Mayor Roy W. Eves and Commissioner John J. Long, Senator J. Glenn Beall and Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde and members of the Allegany County Delegation.

Representatives of all major labor unions were also introduced at the ceremony.

Supermarket Will Be Built

A house at 662 Greene Street is being torn down and it is reported reliably that a new supermarket will be constructed on the site to be leased by the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company.

This property was sold by Mrs. Henriette Anderson to Charles Eugene Howell, local coal dealer, and his wife, Mary Howell, according to a deed filed for record in the office of Joseph E. Borden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court. The deed was recorded May 26.

When questioned yesterday Howell said he was not in a position to make any statement concerning likely use of the property, which is situated in the neighborhood of a number of service stations.

Other reliable sources, however, verified the long persistent rumor that the A&P plans to lease the market once it is completed.

This new West Side store is not expected to have any effect upon the A&P's present store on Wine-ow Street, which was remodeled last spring.

Memorial Tablet Is Dedicated

Lewis G. Hines, personal representative of AFL President George Meany, congratulates Miss Diane Wilson, who became Bicentennial Queen under Labor's banner, at a service dedicating the Allegany Labor Temple to labor pioneers of Allegany County. Taking part in the ceremony are Joseph F. Garlitz, chairman of the dedication program; Miss Wilson, Hines, Mayor Roy W. Eves, F. Patrick Allender, president of the Allegany Trades Council, and Paul L. Burley, secretary of the AFL central body.

Walker Praises Labor's Part In City's History

Hails Coming Union Of AFL And CIO

An official of a top CIO union declared here last night that organized labor, working hand in hand with civic and fraternal groups, "has played no small part" in the development of Cumberland from a trading post to "one of America's great cities."

Speaking on a program marking Business, Labor and Industry Day of the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial prior to a performance of "Redskins and Redcoats," Desmond M. Walker, Akron, general secretary-treasurer of the United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastics Workers of America, offered congratulations of the American labor movement on the Cumberland Bicentennial.

He read a message from Walter P. Reuther, CIO president, expressing regret that he could not attend. The CIO chief sent best wishes to members of the labor movement in this area.

Cites Unification

"We all work," Reuther said, "in the tradition of Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell, Mother Jones, and the beloved Phil Murray of the CIO," and added:

"As these pioneers contributed to the abundant life of all who lived in Cumberland, we must continue... their firm faith in democratic labor and the principles of a free and democratic world."

Walker said 1955, which marks a major landmark in the Queen City's history, is important to organized labor.

Two great labor organizations, he said, will meet in New York City in December to form the united organization to be known as the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O.

He said he hoped that labor unions in this area will lead the field in the unification program following the AFL-CIO unification convention.

To Mark Birthday

He announced that Local 26, URCLPWA, which represents hourly-paid workers of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, will mark its 20th anniversary this year.

Walker was introduced by Mayor Roy W. Eves at the pre-performance event marking another appearance of Miss Diane Wilson, who, campaigning under labor's banner, won the title of Bicentennial Queen.

Leaders of Labor and Industry were honored earlier last evening at a dinner meeting held in the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Industry representatives were introduced by Charles S. Catherman Jr., and the labor officials by Mayor Roy W. Eves.

There was a possibility last night that an extra production of the pageant, "Redskins and Redcoats," will be held Sunday night at Fort Hill Stadium.

Attendance last night was a capacity crowd of 4,200 who filled all reserved seats, general admission seats and available standing room.

Should the show be sold out again tonight, and there is every indication that it will be, there is a distinct possibility a final performance will be staged Sunday night on a first come, first served general admission ticket basis.

County Plans Not To Accept Eckhart Road

Other Provisions Cited In Letter

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has decided not to accept State Route 743A, old U. S. 40 from new U. S. Route 40 to State Route 638 at Eckhart, and again to U. S. Route 40 in a proposed exchange of roads with the State Roads Commission.

William H. Lemmert, board president, yesterday wrote William F. Childs Sr., advisory engineer for the State Roads Commission, about the county commissioners' intentions on this road. The board president explained that a group of Eckhart residents had appeared before the commissioners about a week ago opposing the inclusion of Route 743A in the exchange.

As outlined, the county commissioners would accept stretches of 21 different roads, totaling 16.19 miles which now are a part of the State Roads system. Elimination of Route 743A would reduce the number to 20 and 14.99 miles.

Letter From Childs

The commissioners yesterday received a communication from Childs in which he outlined provisions under which Lemmert, Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the county commissioners, and County Roads Supervisor J. Walker Chapman have agreed to proceed with the road exchange. Specific provisions are listed concerning six of the 21 roads in question.

The provisions:

1. Concerning Maryland 731 south of Barton southerly for a distance of 1.35 miles to Maryland 36, the county agreed to accept the Flag Rock Bridge and its approaches if the SRC will place a steel deck on the bridge at Morrison.

2. The county agreed to accept Maryland 730 from Barton south 22 miles to Maryland 36, if the SRC will raise pipe under the highway or otherwise correct drainage conditions at Berry's print shop and surface treat the road.

Surface Treatment

3. The county will accept the 34 miles section of Maryland 729 from Moscow Mills to Maryland 36 on condition that decking be repaired and the road surface treated.

4. The county will accept Maryland 656 from Maryland 36 at Lonaconing to another point on Maryland 36, a distance of .65 miles, on condition that improvements be made to the bridge and that the road be surface treated.

5. The county will accept Maryland 654 from Maryland 36 to Frostburg, a stretch of .49 miles, provided a drainage problem at the foot of Welsh's Hill is corrected.

6. The county will accept Maryland 743 B and D, two sections of old Route 40 between Allegany Grove and Eckhart Mines, totaling .57 miles if the SRC constructs a barrier and erects dead end signs.

Childs states in his letter that the commission has agreed to these provisions.

According to Mrs. Ralph Isimming, council president, the float was built at practically no cost to the Scouts, and was made possible only because so many people helped.

The farm wagon on which it is constructed was loaned by J. S. Buckley of Oldtown and was obtained by Mrs. Gilbert Miller. The tractor which draws it was provided by Ross Decker and was driven Monday by Robert Crump. Today's driver will be Clem Armstrong.

S-D Day Is Set For December 1

Maryland's "S-D Day" for 1955 will be held on Thursday, December 1, Paul E. Byrke, executive director of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, announced here Thursday.

McKeldin, SRC Refuse Funds For Inquiry

No Public Demand, Governor Asserts

BALTIMORE, Aug. 19 (AP)—Both Gov. McKeldin and the State Roads Commission today turned down a Legislative Council demand for special funds to finance an investigation of the Roads Commission.

The governor said he concurred in the belief of the three members of the Roads Commission that such an inquiry is not warranted.

"Nor has the 'public demand' mentioned in the (Legislative Council) resolution been evidenced to me," he said.

The three members of the commission—Chairman Russell McCain of Frederick, Edgar T. Bennett of Salisbury and Bramwell Kelly of Baltimore—invited the Legislative Council to inspect the commission's files and records.

"All phases of our operation are an open public record," they said. "We welcome and invite constructive criticism from any source."

The Legislative Council, like the General Assembly heavily weighted with Democrats, asked the Republican-dominated commission to initiate and the Republican governor to approve a budget amendment which would make $25,000 available for an inquiry.

The Council has no other immediate way to get funds, but some members voted to forego their pay as members of the council in order to get an inquiry started if the budget amendment was turned down.

An investigation of the Roads Commission was the subject of much wrangling at the 90-day General Assembly session earlier this year. It is sure to come up again when the Legislature meets in February for 30 days.

Gov. McKeldin took this into consideration in refusing to approve funds for an inquiry now.

"If developments at that time (next February) warrant expenditure of funds for improvement, or even investigation of the State Roads Commission," he said, "the legislature will have full power to initiate same."

"Such expenditure at this time, on the facts presented to me, would seem both untimely and unnecessary."

Flood Waters Move Eastward Of Cumberland

Hancock Inundated; B&O Is Hard Hit

As flood waters of the North Branch of the Potomac River receded in Cumberland and upstream areas reported the river back in its banks, floods were reported at several points east of here. Hancock was especially hard hit.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad was also experiencing trouble from the floodtide all day yesterday and last night.

In the Cumberland area of the West Side, where the river had crept over several streets, residents returned to their homes and by early last evening the situation there was about normal.

Aided by rapid cleanup of City Street Department crewmen a layer of mud, debris and silt was cleared away quickly. Most residents who had basements filled with water had them pumped out by mid-afternoon. Damage was not excessive and was largely of a nuisance nature.

Officials at City Hall described the local situation as "back to normal with no casualties and little property damage."

Flood Control Helps
The flood prevention work which has been underway here for some years past is credited with helping to stave off a more serious flood. The new dam in the Potomac River, which is now located so that Wills Creek can flow into the river without being impeded by a dam structure, permitted the creek to move out swiftly, thus eliminating that former danger.

Flood conduits under many of the city streets ran full of water, as surface water drained off quickly. Water from low sections backed into these conduits and helped keep the pressure off the streams.

The Savage River dam, which had been lowered 13 feet before the heavy rains started, filled to within half a foot of the spillway before it stopped rising. Thus millions of gallons of water were kept out of the Potomac at a time when this added burden would have raised the crest.

It was also noted that the one-time flood mark of 17 feet at Wiley Ford Bridge seems to have changed considerably. Engineers explain that as the flood project installations do their job, the flood level rises. That is the purpose of the

State CIO Meet Opens Nov. 17 In Washington

The Maryland Industrial Union Council will open its 1955 convention in Washington November 17, Robert Martin, Hagerstown, president of the state CIO organization, announced here yesterday.

He said the three-day meeting will be held in the Willard Hotel. Executive Board members will meet November 16 to complete plans for the convention.

One of the main topics to be discussed, he said, is the guaranteed annual wage and unemployment compensation.

He said it is believed the Maryland unemployment laws will have to be amended to allow workers to gain the full benefits of the GAW provisions already won by a number of Maryland steel and automobile locals.

The Legislative Council, he reported, has set up a sub-committee, headed by Senator Thomas F. Dempsey (Ba. 3rd), to study the ramifications of GAW and make recommendations to the full council.

A discussion on the merger of the AFL and the CIO will also be discussed at the convention, Martin said.

Separate conventions are being held by the AFL and the CIO in New York City
